

ARAB SNAG SEEN FOR BRITISH PARTITION MOVE

PROMISES HELD BASIS OF 'WAR'

Editor's Note: Following is a dispatch in an explanation series by Webb Miller concerning the violent conflict now raging in Palestine between Jews and Arabs.

BY WEBB MILLER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, July 28.—(UP)—Great Britain faces in Palestine perhaps the most serious problem of her imperial history—with little hope that any formula for solution will prevent a long period of violent conflict between Jews and Arabs.

The British war-time government made seemingly irreconcilable commitments for establishment of an independent Arab state and for creation of a Jewish nation in the same land on the eastern shores of the Mediterranean. Both Jews and Arabs demand fulfillment of these pledges. Both are willing to fight for them.

Armament Is Futile

The result has been a series of killings, bombings and other outrages approaching civil war; bursting into new and more violent disorders regularly and this week taking more than three score lives throughout the Holy Land.

The 8000 troops, the warships, the armored cars, the airplanes which Great Britain has sent to police force futile against guerrilla warfare such as might have been waged in biblical times. Just as futile have been the investigations and recommendations of officials and commissions seeking a solution of the problem.

Seek Partition

As a result of three weeks investigation in Palestine, I am convinced that British authorities are basing their hope for a settlement on partition of Palestine into three parts—Arab, Jewish and British—with arrangements for British arms to enforce the division.

The Jewish agency representing the Zionist movement has officially indicated willingness to negotiate with the British regarding establishment of a Jewish state under a partition scheme, which would indicate the Zionists might eventually accept an imposed division. But the faction known as revisionists admittedly aims at eventual Jewish domination of all Palestine, and is generally blamed for the current reprisals against Arabs.

Bitter Opposition

Arabs bitterly object to the partition theory in which they see the death knell of their aspirations to rule a territory which they regard as theirs by right of 13 centuries of occupation.

Furthermore, they emphasize that partition would give Jews the richest coastal lands and include many Arabs under Jewish rule.

From an exiled Arab leader I knew in Jerusalem I have just received the following explanation of that viewpoint:

"We believe the British in desperation are going to try to force partition upon us. We shall never accept."

Aside from the fact that the British promised us independence, we object to partition that would leave Arabs only rocky, infertile hill regions unable to support their population. It would include only about half of the Arabs in Palestine."

Three Thieves Start Jail Terms

Convicted of petty thievery, three San Juan Capistrano men were booked at county jail yesterday afternoon to begin serving terms.

The men were Paul Valenzuela, 27, who got 45 days; William Erro, Jr., 18, 30 days; and Frank Ramos, 21, 15 days. Deputy Constable C. L. Stroschein brought the men in.

Order Historic Cottage Sold

MANTON, R. I. (UP)—A quaint colonial cottage built in 1654 by Thomas Clemence, a cousin of Roger Williams, has been ordered sold for "not less than $2,200" by Johnston probate court.

Known as the Irons homestead, the house is said by members of the Irons family to be the oldest in Rhode Island. The court order was issued on a petition for sale of real estate brought by Frank W. Irons, administrator of the will of his aunt, Miss Ellen E. Irons, who lived in the house until her death last year.

The house has 13 rooms and a huge fireplace of the type common in buildings constructed in the 17th and 18th centuries. The main part of the first house, built by Clemence, was burned by Indians, but was rebuilt before 1837.

Sale of the house was ordered to pay debts of the estate and cost of administration.

LEGISLATIVE GRAFT CHARGES MARK TIME TO AWAIT HEARING

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 28.—(UP)—Sacramento county's investigation of legislative graft charges was dormant today, following continuance until Aug. 17 of a preliminary hearing for Arthur H. Samish, San Francisco lobbyist, on a perjury charge.

Attorneys for the lobbyist secured a three weeks delay late yesterday. Samish did not appear in court. He was arrested on the basis of assertedly conflicting testimony on his work for M. C. Levee, Hollywood motion picture actor. He is at liberty on $3,000 bail.

Seeks Permanent Writ

The next step will come Monday in the third district court of appeals when his attorneys submit a written answer to a demurrer entered by District Attorney Otis Babcock. Samish is seeking a permanent writ of prohibition against inquiry into his income tax records.

The grand jury is in recess subject to call by Babcock next week but it is understood that no further action is contemplated until the income tax and perjury matters are settled. The jury plans a recess in mid-August until October.

The first public session of the current inquiry was held almost three months ago and the past month has been devoted almost exclusively to questioning Samish on how he earns more than $140,000 annually from varied business interests for public relations work.

SENSATIONAL DIVORCE CASE IS TAKEN UNDER ADVISEMENT

LOS ANGELES, July 28.—(UP)—A judge held under submission today the divorce battle between Dr. Adolph Schiffman, 78, who says his pretty wife slept with another man, and Mrs. Gloria Schiffman, 45, who claims her husband's advanced age has not quieted his ardor for other women.

Testimony closed and the case was submitted to Judge Edward Brand after the wealthy dentist, whose wife says she found two nightie clad women in their home, gave his formula for a spy rod. It was: "Working among the flowers and trees on my ranch—that's made me what I am today."

Dr. Schiffman denied improper relations with Miss Grace Ayresworth and her niece, Esther Kingsbury, the women named by his wife. He said a Miss Leona Cowan, to whom he gave an automobile and money, lived at his home as nurse for two months while Mrs. Schiffman was away.

Earlier Mrs. Schiffman, who looks 10 years younger than her age, testified she lived illicitly with the dentist off and on for 21 years before they finally married in 1936. Just a few months prior to the wedding she lived for a time with another man, with Dr. Schiffman aware of the relationship and paying the bills, she said. He denied this.

Each asks a divorce and Mrs. Schiffman wants $745 a month alimony.

"Word Blindness" Old Affliction

LONDON (UP)—An affliction known as "word blindness" has come into the news here through the case of a 16-year-old cyclist who was fined at Crown Hill, Devon, for disobeying a halt sign.

The boy's father explained that, although the boy was a clever mathematician and could copy writing well, he was unable to read. "I am just the same," added the father, "I can read figures but not words."

Such people, an authority at the Institute of Child Psychology explained are "word blind." They can spell out the letters of a word, but the letters convey nothing.

4 MEN HELD AS DRUNK DRIVERS

Manuel Chacon, 28, El Modena, probably thinks today he made the biggest mistake of his life at 8:15 p. m. yesterday. According to Immigration Officers Franklin Davis of Santa Ana and Walter K. McCassey of San Clemente, they were on an investigation at that hour, driving in Santa Ana canyon near Lasky camp, when Chacon, assertedly very drunk, drove his car in such a manner as to "chase" the officers into a ditch.

Patrol Notified

Chacon, one of four men booked at county jail on drunk driving yesterday or early today, was weaving his car about the highway and driving on the wrong side of the highway most of the time, the immigration officials said. Before they could stop him, he had ditched two other cars, according to the report. No one was injured.

The immigration officers called Highway Patrol Officers Harry Aldrich and Herman Lenz to take Chacon to jail, then continued on their way.

Test For Intoxication

James Casadebag, 31, Los Angeles, convicted in Newport township of drunk driving, was jailed for 30 days yesterday afternoon. David Campos, 28, 1818 West Fourth, Santa Ana, was nabbed in his car at Fourth and Garfield, at 1:30 a. m. today by Officers Roy Hartley and P. L. Grouard. He was pronounced "very drunk."

Campos told the officers he had not had a driver's license since 1933. Officers Chet Gross and Francis Norton, cruising in a police radio car on West First street at 10 p. m. yesterday noticed a car weaving about the street in front of them. They arrested Francis Gordon Roy Bent, 30, Route 2, Santa Ana, gave him an informal test for intoxication, then called a doctor for an official examination. He was pronounced "moderately intoxicated," booked at county jail on drunk driving charge. His two girl companions, 17 and 22 years old, respectively, and man companion, 23, were released and sent home.

SILKWORMS TRY RELIEF WORKER

CLEVELAND (UP)—Probably the only silkworm grower in this part of the country is Patsy Semary, a WPA worker.

Semary worked in steel mills formerly. When the mills closed he took to growing silkworms. The first hatched in the spring.

Early in the spring, he asked a friend, who was traveling abroad, to bring him some silkworm eggs from Italy.

As a child he learned silkworm culture from his mother.

His friend brought him a large number of eggs—more than Semary had expected.

He selected a few dozen to hatch on shelves in one of the rooms in his home. The rest of the eggs he placed in a writing desk.

Surprisingly, the eggs on the shelves and those in the desk hatched at the same time. He was the owner of thousands, instead of a few dozen, silkworms.

Knowing that silkworms have a highly specialized diet, eating only mulberry leaves, Semary is kept extremely busy providing them with leaves.

He picked bare the solitary mulberry tree on his street. He is now working a tree on a nearby street. He has tried unsuccessfully to obtain permission to pick other trees in Cleveland.

In the meantime, the silkworms have started spinning their cocoons. Some have climbed the walls and have spun cocoons on the ceiling.

Semary is glad that the silkworms stop eating when they begin to spin.

Those not yet spinning, however still keep him so busy gathering mulberry leaves that he has had no time to find out where he can sell them.

Television Ruins Alibis

The German husband who telephones home from a bierstube and tells his frau he's "detained at the office" will be out of luck when use of the new television-telephone apparatus pictured above becomes general. It was recently successfully operated over the 605-kilometer stretch between Berlin and Munich. The Berlin operator shown here holds a cumbersome transmission cell which will be eliminated from sets for home use. He can see the Munich operator in the projection window at left. In the wall, next to it, is the round "eye" which transmitted his image to Munich.

GRAPE PRODUCERS MAY TAKE ACTION UP TO CLOSE OF POLLS

Grape producers who desire to participate in the special election tomorrow on the proration question have opportunity until the polls close tomorrow evening to obtain any necessary correction in the voting list prepared by the agricultural commissioner's office, according to an announcement today by Commissioner D. W. Tubbs.

The election will be state wide. Orange county growers will hold their election in the Garden Grove school. There are nine listed growers in the county, three of whom will serve on the election board. Tubbs, however, made his announcement today in view of the possibility that smaller growers might have been overlooked.

Asks for Expression

It is entirely possible that small acreages of grapes might not appear in the records of the Agricultural Commissioner's office and therefore not be on the list filed with the county clerk, said Tubbs. Should any such producer desire to vote at the coming grape proration election he should make representation to the commissioner.

Small in Number

Voting may be done by authorized representative but the authorization should be in writing and the signature of the person for whom the voting is done attested by a witness.

The number of commercial grape growers entitled to vote has decreased to nine, representing 53 acres. Ten varieties of grapes are represented. The polls will be in the Lincoln school at Garden Grove and will be open from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m., unless everybody votes between 10 a. m. and 12 noon.

FRATERNITY PLANS SLATE OF EVENTS

Announcement of social events was made following election of officers of Alpha Sigma Lambda at the clubhouse on North Flower street last night as Don Parks was chosen grand master of the organization.

Other officers elected include: Murray Patton, vice grand master; Kenny Warren, secretary; Ralph Fuller, treasurer; Charles Palmer, historian; and Cecil Starnes, publicity. Howard Piper was taken in as a pledge in the society.

Included in the announcement of events for the organization was a sport dance at the Serrano Country Club on Saturday and a swimming party and basketball game at the same place on Sunday. Late in August the fraternity plans to stage its annual summer dance at San Clemente Casino. On September 3, 4, 5, the group will charter the boat "Mariner" for a three day cruise in Catalina and Santa Barbara Islands waters. The cruise is being held open to the public. Arrangements are in charge of Don Parks, 815 South Parton street.

Among those present at last night's meeting were: Charles Sawyer, Carol Joy, Al Wright, Al Dehene, Allen Ritter, Bob Blanchard, Bob Bradley, and Charles Creel.

SHIP BUILDING PROFITS ITALY

ROME (UP)—Italy is finding shipbuilding for foreign countries good business.

The largest foreign passenger liner ever to be constructed in Italy, the 28,000-ton Stockholm for the Svenska American Line of Sweden, was completed recently. Before delivery, Italian shipyards were working on 21 units ordered by seven nations with a total tonnage of 166,500 tons. The ships were commissioned by Great Britain, the United States, Norway, Portugal, Rumania and other countries.

In addition, negotiations are underway with Brazil, Chile and Venezuela for the construction in Italy of ships and submarines.

Italy's shipyard can underbid any of the reliable shipbuilders in the world because of three main reasons:

1. Premier Benito Mussolini does not believe in the dole. His plan is to keep labor occupied, even on part time and reduced wages. Occupied workmen, he considers, are happier than workmen on the dole.

2. Propaganda. Italy's prestige is heightened each time a new keel is laid for a foreign customer.

3. Foreign Exchange. Italy needs foreign exchange to purchase commodities such as steel and coal in which it is deficient. The ships, with few exceptions are sold for cash.

Among ships under construction for foreign countries are three, with a total tonnage of 16,000, for Great Britain.

AUSTRALIAN TENNIS CHANCES IMPROVED

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 28.—(UP)—Australia's chances for success in 1938 Davis Cup tennis competition received a boost today when John Bromwich, 19-year-old singles champion, came out of a slump and played the best game since arriving here two weeks ago.

Bromwich will play Eugenio Tapia of Mexico in a singles match of the interzone series starting tomorrow. In the other match, Adrian Quist, No. 2 on the Australian team, will play Hernandez, the top ranking Mexican.

'Thirty Dollars Every Thursday' Plan Is Riding A Mighty Big Wave In Sunny California

Planning The Campaign

Piling Up 'Ham And Eggs'

Counting The 'Offering'

Reading The 'Gospel'

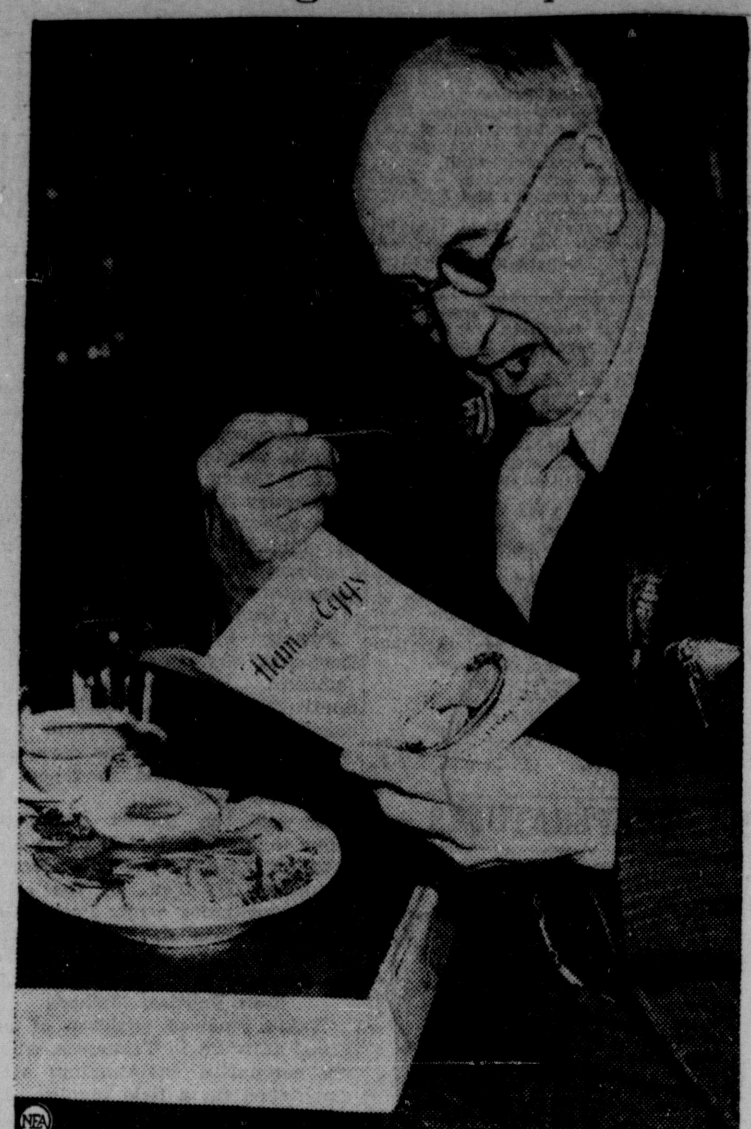

"Thirty Dollars Every Thursday" is the gospel being successfully preached to a million Southern Californians by Sherman J. Bainbridge, shown above in the office of the California Pension Plan, new retirement scheme which threatens to supplant the Townsend Plan in the affections of millions of elderly folk. A recently broken leg does not stop Bainbridge, for since last October the plan has achieved 150 office employees and an income of perhaps $1300 a week in contributions. Hundreds of thousands of adherents cheer at mass meetings, and hang over radios for frequent broadcasts.

"Ham and Eggs for Californians" is the title of the key booklet expounding the new pension plan for retirement at 50 on $30 a week. Hundreds of thousands of copies have been distributed for a small price. Attractive young ladies are shown here piling up some 30,000 copies awaiting mailing. A luscious-looking plate of thick ham, golden eggs, French-fried potatoes—and parsley—bedecks the cover and guarantees enthusiastic reading. A million people have signed petitions to place the new pension plan on the California ballot in November as the new movement continues to grow rapidly.

About $30,000 was contributed to the plan last month. Here R. Reynolds, treasurer, and Fred R. Lenhart, his assistant, count some of the day's receipts. The plan is simple. Every person over 50 would get each Thursday 30 scrip warrants worth $1 in trade. Each week a two-cent stamp (bought for cash from the state) would have to be affixed to the back of each warrant. At the end of the year $1.04 in cash would have been paid for stamps. One dollar would go to redeem the warrant and four cents to meet administrative expenses. Rapid circulation of the pension money would be thus encouraged.

While eating one plate of ham and eggs, paid for by hard-earned money, it is pleasant to contemplate vistas of endless and automatic ham and eggs in the future, and that is what D. H. Rathbone is doing in the above picture. Rathbone, a member of the California Pension Plan since its inception, wears a lapel-button with a bell, his reward for bringing in new members to the organization, whose membership, spurred by frequent mass meetings and a continual radio barrage, is sweeping Southern California, drawing many of the same people who have been backing Dr. Townsend's plan.

Sabotage Blamed When $2,000,000 Steamship Pier Is Destroyed In Raging Flames

ODOR OF OILS IS DETECTED

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 28.—(UP)—Authorities said today they believed saboteurs had set the fire which last night destroyed the Canadian Pacific Steamship company pier, longest on the Vancouver waterfront, with an estimated loss of $2,000,000.

Constable G. H. Lake reported the fire started at an unused part of the dock, and that three hours before the dock floor had been thoroughly wetted down with hoses.

Four firemen hurt. "The dock was wetted down as a precaution against fire," Lake declared. "That is done in hot weather and when humidity is low. The fire broke out beneath the pier and had an oil smell."

Four firemen were injured in the fire, and four others were precipitated into the water when a section of the dock collapsed. Two club to a smoldering piling until a tugboat man dived overboard with a line and rescued them. The other two swam to a tugboat and were pulled out.

Steamer Endangered. Nearly all the city's fire fighting equipment was needed to control the fire, which for a time endangered the 22,000-ton liner Empress of Russia, moored nearby. Two other large vessels and several smaller ones were moved from the danger zone when flying sparks drifted over them.

A fire truck and several railroad cars were destroyed.

One Night On Cold Beach Enough

It was round-up time for two Santa Ana Mexican boys at Long Beach yesterday afternoon after an "A. W. O. L." outing there. C. M. Glover of the Long Beach juvenile department, reported the boys, 13 years old, wandered into the beach city Tuesday and slept on the cold beach Tuesday night. The next morning their wanderings ended, Officers N. C. Nelson and Tom Kinney informed the boys' parents of their whereabouts, the parents agreeing to go to Long Beach for them.

The preview will be shown but once, promptly at 8:45 p. m. The studio has reserved seats for stars and studio officials.

Mystery Illness Assails N. Y. Man

Diagnosis of the illness of William Dalton, 54, New York City, who became unconscious at the Green Cat cafe yesterday afternoon, was being sought today by attendants at county hospital.

agreement with RFC Chairman Jesse H. Jones, however, PWA would utilize its remaining funds for grants, while RFC would provide funds for loans on many major projects.

RFC would not have to loan $250,000,000 to increase the PWA program by that amount because RFC loans would free funds for PWA to use as outright 45 per cent grants in a large number of projects, for which communities would provide 55 per cent and thereby greatly enlarge the emergency program.

Rates High. Asked is the RFC contemplating taking over all subsequent PWA loans, Jones replied, "I don't think there's any reason to think RFC will step in with all loan applications."

While allotting more than $500,000,000 PWA has made only $36,000,000 in loans to date. Communities generally have been able to obtain money at rates lower than PWA's four per cent interest.

increasing violations of the (Japanese) agreement not to move armed men and vehicles through the American sector. The commander of the Fourth Marines reported the violations in writing to the Japanese army staff.

Japan Speeds Drive. "Apparently the Japanese army is unable to secure compliance with the agreement by their subordinates. As a result, it is necessary to reestablish traffic control posts along Bubbling Well road."

Foreign observers said the reported Japanese troop movements, warship maneuvers in the Yangtze near Kiukiang and new bombings along the upper Yangtze Valley indicated that the Japanese were speeding their drive on Hankow, the provisional capital.

Four Killed As Cable Breaks

BOUHLAMARQUE, Que., July 28 (UP)—Four mining engineers were killed and a fifth injured today when a cable snapped on a hoist lowering them to the 700 foot level of the Lamaque gold mine.

The dead: Peter Downing, 24, Glenister, Alta.; Harry Field, 32, Bourlamaque; Joseph J. Crocker, 23, Toronto; Arthur Hewart, 32, Halifax.

W. Clarke Isbister, 23, Toronto, was injured critically.

"TAKE PACIFIC SERIOUSLY" — WARNING TO EASTERN BATHERS

Eastern tourists who fail to take western matters seriously are causing wrinkles on the brows of Orange county's beach lifeguards, according to Dana Lamb, head of the lifeguard corps.

Their failure particularly to take the Pacific ocean seriously is the cause of the lifeguard worry.

Rocks Submerged. "They're nice folks," says Lamb, "but they fish off the rocks in the surf, and refuse to heed warnings that the tide turns every six hours and their rocks are completely submerged at high tide."

Lifeguards are forced to insist sharply that the tourist fishermen leave the rocks at the danger periods; sometimes it is almost necessary to use force to remove them, according to Lamb. Several times, recently, lifeguards have had to rescue marooned tourists off the rocks.

Calls From Tourists. The eastern tourist likewise considers the Pacific's powerful undertow beneath his notice, according to the lifeguard captain.

"Our most frequent calls for help come from the tourist who wades into the surf and confidently expects to make China, at least, as a preliminary swim," said Lamb.

Inventors Send Prize Gadgets To Convention

CINCINNATI — (UP) — Albert G. Burns, Alameda, Cal., president of the National Inventors Congress, beamed with pride here when he examined the early arriving exhibits that will be displayed at the annual convention, July 15-23.

Included among the inventions that caught the eye of the portly Californian were a mouse trap which electrocuted its victims when they sniff for cheese; a valveless automobile; an electric hedge trimmer that will shear 150 feet of foliage in an hour; a double-chain reducer and an insect cage to trap roaches and flies.

Burns said that he expected 400 exhibits at the convention. "Inventors were never more prolific than they are now," he said. "New inventions may lead to new industries and that means more work for men and prosperity for the country."

Burns estimated that there are approximately 30,000 amateur and professional inventors in the country who seek between 800 and 900 patents weekly on their gadgets.

Small "Dorms" Built By College

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. — (UP) — Construction of a new type college dormitory will begin soon at the Niagara University campus, it was announced today.

To be known as Varsity Village, the project calls for the erection of a group of home-like residences each. The village is to be ready for occupancy by October. The homes are to be constructed along lines of English Tudor, but will vary in appearance and materials. Some are to be built of stone, others of brick and brick and timber. The group will surround a central commons.

The residences, it was announced, will enable the university to solve a housing problem created by a rapidly increasing student enrollment.

For the Union

Quizzical indeed appeared Lewis Leonard, above, secretary-treasurer of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, as he testified at the Senate Civil Liberties committee quiz into labor policies of "Little Steel." Leonard said that the amalgamated did not ask a man if he was a Communist when he wanted to join the union, but asked only if he worked for the company.

Police Station Braved by Thieves

CLEVELAND — (UP) — When thieves took the coat and uniform cap of Capt. Harry Weiss from the office of central police station here, police thought that that would be enough of that. They hung a mirror so they could spot intruders. Recently, thieves entered again, took Patrolman Harry Smith's overcoat and blouse from his locked locker in the basement, escaped unobserved.

Cleanup Causes Flurry In Bank

NORWALK, O. — (UP) — It wasn't a holdup but a cleanup that caused all the excitement at the Citizens' National Bank.

Ray Hutchins, janitor, got the dust-rag caught in the alarm box. The bell, which could not be turned off, rang until the electric current was exhausted.

Ben Jonson's grave stone inscription should have read "Orara Ben Jonson," but the stonecutter made a mistake and chiseled it "O rare Ben Jonson."

RUSSIA IN BITTER ANTI-SPY CAMPAIGN

MOSCOW, July 28. — (UP) — Gregory Gorbach has been named chief of Russian secret police in the Far East, it was announced today, as part of a big scale purge of alleged "enemies of the state" and spies.

Gorbach was chief of secret police in the Novosibirsk region of the Far East. Now he replaces in supreme police command of the entire, vital far eastern area, Gen. Genlik Lushkov.

Vassily Dementiev has been named head of the special secret police division for the Pacific fleet, for Vladivostok and for the maritime province of Siberia. He was secret police chief at Archangel.

The appointments were announced after a Communist party conference which Leo Mekhlis, political head of the Red Army, and Mikhail Frinovsky, head of the secret police frontier guard, attended.

Coincident with the news of the Far East appointments came the disclosure that Peter Sergel, 69, Greek Orthodox Church metropolitan, had been arrested at Rostov.

Churches Attacked. The newspaper Molot of Rostov asserted that Sergel confessed he was a spy for the German and Polish intelligence services, and alleged that he implicated a large church group. It was added that Sergel confessed that intelligence services ordered him to utilize his "semi-legal" opportunities in the church to concentrate white guard elements in preparation for an armed uprising at a suitable moment.

Then the newspaper diverged into an attack on Roman Catholic, Greek Orthodox and Baptist churches elements in Russia on the allegation that they conspired against the government.

Car Plunges 50 Feet, 5 Escape

PHILADELPHIA — (UP) — Death took a holiday here when an automobile carrying five passengers broke through a guard rail and plunged 50 feet to a cobbled stockyard.

The vehicle landed squarely on its four wheels, the tires and springs absorbing the shock. The passengers escaped with minor bruises.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning show there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Reyes Is Jailed For 180 Days

Antonio Reyes, 44, 120 East Delhi road, who asked Officers Tom Kinney and Richard M. Bradley for their opinion of the best methods of committing suicide when they found him intoxicated, with an artery in his left arm slashed, and bleeding, went to county jail for 180 days yesterday.

Reyes assertedly attempted suicide Tuesday at his home. He told the officers he was trying to get out of the "terrible world."

Mrs. Reyes signed an assault and battery charge against him, alleging he beat her Monday night, the officers charging him with being a common drunkard.

Before City Judge J. G. Mitchell yesterday, he pleaded guilty to both charges and was sentenced to serve 180 days on each count, the sentences to run concurrently.

Coincident with its racing-pace rearmament, it was buttressing its position in key countries of Europe. Its relations with Turkey are now most friendly. It was learned authoritatively today that it had submitted proposals to Portugal with a view to supplying the military equipment necessary for Portugal's rearmament.

WILKENS IS HELD TO SUPERIOR COURT

Victor E. Wilkens, 31, employee of the county surveyor's office, of Route 2, Orange, was held to answer to superior court on a charge of burglary. He faces trial in the higher court.

Wilkens, who first agreed to plead guilty to a charge he stole approximately $10 from the cash register at the Homer Edwards service station, 2064 South Main, recently, according to officers' allegations, later obtained an attorney and pleaded not guilty.

Took Serial Numbers. Wilkens was arrested by Officers Charles W. Wolford and Tom Kinney after an investigation by Edwards, himself. Theft of $140 from the register during the past several months led to Edwards' investigation, he said.

He took serial numbers of dollar and five-dollar bills in the register, then after Wilkens left the place, had him arrested. The officers and Edwards said Wilkens was in possession of the Edwards money when the arrest occurred.

COUNTY ANGLERS CATCH ALL TYPES OF FISH DURING WEEK

Deep-sea fishing took a turn for the better last week as hundreds of anglers flocked to the Orange county coast line fishing spots and returned with smiles of satisfaction as catches in local water reached near-record peaks.

Thousands of fish of all varieties were landed during the week and unless there is an abrupt change of weather and water conditions the sport will continue to be good for some time.

Outstanding in the local news was the catch of a 200 pound marlin, the first of the season in the Newport Beach area, by R. B. Newton, San Luis Obispo newspaper man. Newton battled with the marlin for 50 minutes before bringing it to gaff. Three other marlin were hooked by Newton's companions on the Jesse R. Skeen boat "Georgia M", but they got away.

Newport anglers enjoyed some of the best fishing of the season with live baitboats bringing in heavy catches of barracuda, white sea bass, tuna, yellowtail, and albacore. The newly instituted schedule of the "May-13", a Darrell King operated boat, which leaves the Newport pier at 3 a.m. in search of albacore, tuna, and marlin, is proving one of the most popular runs along the coast.

The boat has not been operating in any particular area but has been trolling for the most part between Dana Point and the waters east of Santa Catalina Island.

San Clemente fishing grounds are furnishing some of the best sport of the season with catches of yellowtail, barracuda and albacore dominating the picture.

Skippers along the Orange county coast line are noting with satisfaction the influx of anglers from the metropolitan area who have been attracted to the local waters as a fishing base.

Many of the best anglers on the coast have been converted to permanent residents of the coast area in taking advantage of the many facilities offered by the district as a residence. Lido Isle, Newport Beach and other popular residential sections report enthusiasm on the part of out of county residents for the fishing in local waters as well as other attractions for permanent residence.

Bass In Boulder Lake Getting Big

Fishermen at Boulder Lake may expect to battle bass weighing between ten and twelve pounds within the next few years, is the word reaching the Automobile Club of Southern California outing bureau from the Boulder dam area. The prediction by E. C. Cozart, in charge of the Las Vegas bass hatchery, is based on a study of recent catches of fish weighing nearly six pounds. He says that "winter marks" on the scales, corresponding to the rings on a tree, show that the bass caught were around three years old, and that with steady growth twelve-pounders should not be uncommon within another year of 18 months. Anglers say the Boulder lake bass display an extraordinary amount of fight when hooked.

YOUNG ANGLERS HAVE SUCCESS

The Junior Anglers of Southern California, an Orange county organization, have been active in piscatorial pleasures during the past week, according to Nelson Harnois, publicity agent for the group.

The anglers divided their club into groups, to be sure of hitting the largest schools of albacore, which migrate to different parts of the coast almost every day. One day they are running off Dana Point, and the next at Catalina Island. They are here in large quantities, but locating them is somewhat difficult at times.

Successful Day
With exceptional luck, the club made many fine catches. A party on the boat Elmo, which included Rodney Lewis and Nelson Harnois, with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Barnett, made a catch of 13 albacore last week. The fish averaged 18 pounds, the largest being a 19 pounder taken by Rodney Lewis. The largest catch was made by Mrs. Barnett and Nelson Harnois, each of whom brought four to gaff.

A party including Bromley Krock, Jerry McCain, Richard Lorry Roehm, Jack Fowler, Gordon Wilde and Nelson Harnois hooked eight albacore the following day on the boat Reno. Harnois landed the largest fish of the day, one weighing 25 pounds.

Marlin Trip
A hard struggle was fought and last by Richard Lorry Roehm, who came near landing an albacore which would have neared the 40-pound mark on the scales. Altogether, it was a very successful day, the fish averaging approximately 22 pounds.

A party aboard the boat Elmo, fishing for marlin, swordfish and albacore, was not as successful as the parties earlier in the week, for the water was somewhat rough and their quarry did not show. The party included Mr. and Mrs. Barnett, Floyd LeRoy Barnes and Nelson Harnois. Harnois brought to gaff two large albacore, the only ones caught all day.

GERMANY TELLS OF PROPOSALS

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(UP)—Responsible German sources said today that Germany had offered to negotiate a trade treaty with the United States and had been refused.

The offer, they said, would have started a graduated increase of imports from America, leading to annual guaranteed purchases of American goods amounting to $222,000,000 compared with $125,000,000 last year.

Seen as "Non-Conforming"
State department officials confirmed that the German government had made such a proposal but said that it had not conformed to the basic requirement of this country's trade pacts — that both signatory nations shall treat each other's goods on a "most favored nation" basis.

The United States treats all countries the same, generally, but it claims that Germany discriminates against American goods. As a result of many disputes, German-American trade has been only a fraction of what it once was.

Strive to "Please"
Germans here, who spoke for their government, said that the essence of their offer was to fulfill, as soon as possible, the "most favored nation" requirement, and that their government repeatedly had made that clear to American officials.

Under the German plan, four typical years of trade between the two countries would have been selected with a guarantee to restore trade to that average level. The years 1931 through 1934 had been suggested. American sales in Germany then varied from $191,000,000 to $315,000,000, but averaged about $222,000,000.

Other Reason Given
United States officials said that they were cool to the plan because they regarded the 1931-34 period as depression years rather than typical years. Moreover, they did not like the idea of delay nor certain "vague" technical arrangements about releasing sufficient exchange to pay for the goods.

They hinted also that they were not ready to negotiate with Germany because of preoccupation with the proposed British trade pact. That treaty, sought by Secretary of State Cordell Hull since 1933, is pending.

RADIO HAS ROLE IN BOY'S DEATH

Value of police radio to the public was demonstrated once more yesterday with the finding of 21-year-old Alfred Noreiga's body floating in a pond on the Sunny Hills ranch, one-mile west of 101 highway along Imperial highway.

Noreiga, resident of Alta Vista camp, La Habra, was a drowning victim. He had left his clothes at the edge of the pond, donned a bathing cap and entered the water, probably about 9 p.m. Tuesday.

Report Broadcast
While patrolling in the Placentia district, Deputy Sheriffs A. W. Fullerton and Vern Mohn heard a radio dispatch from headquarters, advising them to contact John B. Sanks, La Habra city engineer. After the contact, the officers advised headquarters, Police Radio Station KGEH, that a body had been seen floating in the pond.

Station KGEH broadcast the report. Police Chief W. H. Williams, Brea, and Lifeguard Vincent Wall of that area, radioed an offer of assistance, which was accepted, and in five minutes had recovered the body.

Many Offer Assistance
Meanwhile, the Newport Beach city rescue squad and the county's rescue car in charge of Dana Lamb, apprised of the mishap, were rushing to the scene, and the Santa Ana fire department, intercepting the radio call, offered assistance.

Deputy Coroner Bert Casteln was contacted within a few minutes, took charge of the body which was sent to McAnally and Suters funeral chapel, Fullerton. The pond from which Noreiga's body was recovered is 40 by 100 feet in dimensions and nine or 10 feet deep in some spots.

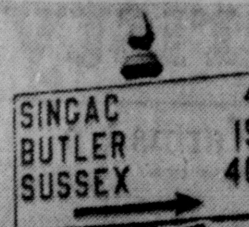

BEAR HAS ROLE IN FESTIVAL OF ARTS

Elwood Bear, featured in the Festival of Arts at Laguna Beach, July 29 to August 6, will appear in the capacity of the director of the Elwood Bear "Senior Violin Ensemble."

Besides conducting the ensemble, Bear is the present conductor of the Santa Ana Symphony orchestra and supervisor of the Federal Music Project symphony orchestra of Orange county. The Elwood Bear "Senior Ensemble" is made up of violinists of the Santa Ana symphony orchestra who have received their musical education under Bear. Among them are representatives of Huntington Beach, Orange, Tustin, Bell, Fullerton, Garden Grove and Santa Ana. The members of the ensemble are as follows:

JUBILESTA PLANS NEAR COMPLETION

VENTURA, July 28.—A full program of sports and other attractions for Ventura's Jubilesta, August 18 to 21, is being worked out. Beginning with the big dance with a 10-piece orchestra, at the Civic Auditorium Thursday evening, August 18, there will be something going for three days and evenings, according to a Jubilesta committee announcement.

The 251st coast artillery, which will be holding summer encampment at Seaside park during the Jubilesta period, will participate in the festivities. The regiment's band is billed for a concert at Plaza park Friday evening, and on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock there will be a review of the regiment by Governor F. P. Merriam and General H. H. Morehead, adjutant general. Saturday will be known as Governor's Day.

'WHY CHURCH' WINS IN TALK CONTEST

Toastmasters of the Smedley Chapter Number One of the Toastmasters International last night voted first and second places to W. O. Mendenhall and T. E. McLeod respectively. "Why I Go To Church" was the title of the talk which took first place for Mendenhall.

McLeod chose for his title, "Recreation." He told of the various means of resting and where to go to accomplish most fully the purpose. Robert Scoye, toastmaster, also introduced A. T. Kline, Jim Wright, and Omar Williams. Kline brought the radio programs under fire in his talk "One Man's Opinion" and made suggestions for their betterment. "Salesmen and Advertising" by Wright traced the development of advertising and the salesman's relation to it. Williams told "How to Become a Successful Dancer" in his talk by that name in which he cited several instances in his experiences where he used knowledge to his benefit.

General critic was Walter Ferris with W. W. Cadwallader, Fred Walker, H. C. Cameron, Omar Williams, and D. H. Tibbals as individual critics. Guests were William Hobbs, treasurer of Toastmasters International, Fred Dunstan, Bob Long, and Bob Swanson.

Plan Rites For N. Y. Suicide

NEW YORK, July 28.—(UP)—John Ward will be buried in Brooklyn tomorrow after private funeral services for which members of his family asked police protection. The 26 year old Southampton youth perched 11 hours on a 17th floor ledge of the Gotham Hotel before leaping to his death Tuesday night.

His family disclosed that they had received letters from persons asking permission to attend the rites and view the body.

All day yesterday the curious thronged the corner of Fifth Avenue and 55th street, pointing to the ledge on which Ward stood while friends, relatives and detectives sought vainly to lure him to safety.

BY THE BAT BOY

Now it can be told. That is, we have the permission of "Horseman" Stanley and "Miracle Mace" to release the final outcome of that super-battle of handicappers. Just so you won't be kept in suspense we'll announce that "Miracle Mace" already has collected that carton of cigarettes and has smoked nearly half of them.

"Horseman" Stanley, after burning the midnight oil for 33 days looking over form charts, calling numerous tipsters and listening to chatter from Hollywood Park came up with 67 winners—or should we say went down with 67. On the other hand "Miracle Mace" wasted no midnight oil, slept his quota of 12 hours each night, trusted entirely to luck and second sight and came up with 69 winners. Stanley had a chance to win on the last day, but like "Miracle Mace" he didn't hit a winner.

Here's the official close of the 13 days, including handicappers who get paid for their work and those who don't bet on their own selections: Gwynne, Register handicapper and champion of all 56; McDonald 79; Lowry 79; Otis 80; Bernard 72; Hernandez 73; Collier 83; Horseman Stanley 67; Miracle Mace 69 and "Sweet Betty" Stephenson 60. The last name is just a rank outsider. He couldn't even outguess Horseman Stanley. See you at Del Mar.

Bat Boy's Specials—Clyde Jeffrey, the Riverside Junior college sprint phenom, who is now touring Europe after breaking Charlie Paddock's world record for the 150 yard dash, is signed and sealed for Stanford, but the Trojan hasn't given up trying to get him. Dick Templeton, Stanford track coach says that Jeffrey is one that will not get away... except over his dead body. Anyhow that's the hope that Art Cohn of the Oakland Tribune is putting out. And Art usually knows where he's putting when he puts.

Wonder who will get Venn Botts now that he's been canned from his job with the Richfield Oil company in Los Angeles? Seems as how the Richfield paymaster got tired of paying Venn Botts' salary and having him pitch for three or four other teams, including Huntington Beach. Maybe Joe Rodgers will find a spot for Venn. But if he doesn't watch the scramble to sign the Oiler's ace hurler, Doc, the line forms at the left.

This guy Listerine Hill, better known as Memphis, is about as wrapped up in baseball as Tex Oliver is in football and believe you me that's being plenty cuddled up. Memphis gets through with the game at Huntington Beach and then makes the circuit of Santa Ana, Anaheim, Orange and Irvine to see if there's still a game being played. Tuesday he coached the Oiler for nine innings and then watched the Santa Ana-Brea dozen stanza fracas.

Ever since "Big Bill" Cole and Tex Oliver arrived from Oregon and the talk on the streets has been football, we've heard six-count 'em—making plans to attend the U. S. C. Oregon contest at Portland on October 29. And it's still a good bet that Blas Mercurio may be a member of the Oregon team. Blas is in Santa Ana and so is Tex and Bill Cole. The heat is on or else the headman and his assistant have slipped since we saw them a few hours ago.

Speaking of long hitters in golf—and we weren't—Don Kennedy drove No. 10 green at the Santa Ana Country club the other day. Brother that's some drive when you figure there's a deep dip just in front of the green 217 yards away from the tee. We understand that's why Riley Huber is walking with a cane these days. They say he sprained his foot, back and peace of mind trying to outdrive Don. Walt Swabnerger said Riley did it down in the basement of his store. Well if he did Riley sure was a long ways off the fairway. More later.

DOUBLE MAIN EVENT
Tony Morelli vs. Ted Christy

SEMI-WINDUP

"Beanpole" Bill Hall vs. Tony Garabaldi.

Another "battle of the century" is scheduled for tonight at the Orange County Athletic Club when Tony "Killer" Morelli meets Ted Christy, the "Sunland Terror" in the top half of the double main event on Promoter "Bud" Levin's weekly wrestling card.

The Morelli-Christy bout is expected to be one of the wildest matches that has ever been staged in the Higway 101 arena. Christy, one of wrestling's "problem" children depends on hidden punches and more or less unorthodox holds to win his match. Morelli uses the Italian smother, a cross between haythem and second degree murder and the surf board.

In the second half of the double main Cecil Magill, speed merchant from Long Beach, takes on Ken Hollis of Abilene, Tex. Magill, who works off the ropes with speed and skill is expecting to handle Hollis with his famous drop kick. Both matches of the main event will be for two falls to a finish.

In the semi-windup "Red Devil" of West Virginia will wrestle Don Juan Sebastian. In the preliminary "Beanpole" Bill Hall, meets Tony Garabaldi.

FLEET BOXERS WILL FIGHT HERE MONDAY

For the first time since the revival of boxing sailors from the Pacific Fleet will fight on next Monday nights boxing card at Orange County Athletic Club. Four sailors from the boxing team of the U. S. S. Vestal have been signed for preliminary matches on the card that will feature Fernie Baca, Santa Ana Indian, in the top half of the double main event. Baca will fight Mickey Kaul of Los Angeles. In the second half of the double main go, Badge Diaz meets "Kid" Baddy of Los Angeles. Sal Baca, Diamond Belt champion fights Tino Sanchez in the semi-windup. "Sailor" Joe George, 260-pounder from the Vestal heads the navy contingent that will fight at the highway arena. He is matched with Les Wasilschen of Long Beach. Other sailors on the card include Jimmy Pollard who battles Ben Garcia, at 124 pounds; Jimmy Fynn vs. "Schoolboy" Paul Brown, Santa Ana, 135 pounds and Jack Darcy who will fight Bert Duran of Buena Park.

JAPAN FAVORED TO DEFEAT CANADIANS

MONTREAL, July 28.—(UP)—Japan was a 2-1 favorite to defeat Canada in the North American zone Davis cup play which begins here today.

The winner of this best of five series qualifies to meet the victor of the Australia-Mexico series beginning in Kansas City, Mo., tomorrow. Winner of the North American final then will play the European zone winner for the right to challenge the United States for the cup.

Ross Wilson meets Pumatru Nakano in today's opening singles match, then will pair with Laird Watt for tomorrow's doubles match. Bob Murray, Canada's top ranking player, will tackle Jiro Yamagishi in the other singles match today. In Saturday's final singles matches, Wilson will meet Yamagishi and Murray will play Nakano.

Put Off Opening Of Deer Season

Deer hunters who heretofore have been going out at the opening of the season would do well to check up on the opening and closing dates before oiling up their guns, according to T. J. Neal.

The local sportsman announces that the deer hunting season in Santa Barbara and Ventura counties and the western area of Kern county will not open until August 15 and will close September 9. In years past the season opened August 1, but a conservation move is being made this year to avert the wholesale slaughter of deer. The balance of the Southland has not been changed. All the rest of the counties in Southern California open the season August 1 and close September 15.

M'Leomore Works Out New Way To Get Rich

By HENRY MCLEOMORE
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 28.—(UP)—I wish I knew for sure if the Joe Louis-Max Schmeling fight film which is being shown in Germany has been as doctored and censored as reports say. According to one report from Germany the picture which purports to be that of the last bout between Joe and Max, is instead a hodge-podge of both their fights, the chief scenes being those which show Max beating the daylight out of Joe two years ago.

If there is such a film being exhibited, and if it is good enough to fool the good burghers of Berlin and environs, then I want to get in touch with the man who arranged it and bring him to this country. I charge of a news reel theater I have in mind—a news reel theater that will please every patron of sport.

My news reel theater will be called the "See What You Like and Nothing Else Theater." It will be the job of the man from Berlin to take the films of all sports events and doctor them so they will please everyone.

Take the picture of a Harvard-Yale game, which was won by Yale, 7 to 6, for example. Naturally, a picture whose climax comes when Yale completes a winning touchdown pass will be galling to Harvard men. So it will be the assistant's duty to dig up some film showing Harvard throwing a winning pass and stick that in the picture. Then we will advertise like this:

"Come and see the Harvard-Yale game pictures. Yale wins at 4, 6, 8, and 10 p. m. and Harvard at 5, 7, 9, and 11 p. m."

LOIS TERRY'S BAT WINS FOR LIONETTES OVER FILM GIRLS

Climaxing a brilliant climb from the second division the Orange Lionettes won their sixth straight American league game with a smashing 6 to 5 win over the Columbia Pictures nine before an overflow crowd of enthusiastic supporters at the Orange City park diamond last night.

The victory sent the Lionettes into a first place tie with the Bank of America Girls who last night defeated the powerful Young's Market Maids 2 to 2 at Sunset Field in Hollywood.

Cordius Hamilton's brilliant throw from left field on the last play of the game trapping Genevieve Beck off home plate by the tieing run or Lois Terry's brilliant pitching and her home run in the fifth and triple in the sixth saved victory for the Orange nine.

The Lionettes broke the ice in the third inning when Cordius Hamilton scored on Terry's fielder's choice and Ruth Lee came in on Elsie Winchell's walk. In the fifth Lois Terry hit a home run to deep center field and Phoebe Miller followed with a double. Kasai Oshiki brought Miller in when she was safe on Elsie Coates' error at short. Ruth Lee's single and Lois Terry's triple followed by Miller's single ended the Lionettes' scoring in the sixth. The "movie" girls got two runs in the

Tonight's Games
M. E. South vs. Treeswest Products, 7:30 p. m.; Santa Ana Elks vs. Alliance Mutual Life, 8:30.

The two so-called "bad boys" of the Santa Ana City League Santa Ana Elks and Alliance Mutual Life face each other in the feature attraction of tonight's double billing.

Both teams were set down by the City League softball commission for alleged violation of rule No. 4 governing eligibility. Bob Wimbusch, Alliance Mutual shortstop, and Ray Short, Elks fielder, were the center of controversial "surprise" turn of events. They both had played in the National league in violation of the rule, which says that any player may not participate in City league games if he has had more than two tryouts with a National league club or has been signed more than 14 days. The Elks dropped one game by the inaction and Alliance Mutual was penalized two games.

The game itself should develop into considerable of a pitchers' battle between Alliance Mutual's school boy hurler Everett Winkler of Tustin high and Bruce Harms of the former National nightball player for the Elks.

The curtain-raiser brings together M. E. South's battling Mustangs and Treeswest Products. The first game will get underway at 7:30 p. m. Charlie Hill probably will be on the ridge for the Mustangs and either Walt Handley or Leonard Jefferson for the Orange Products boys.

By HARRY GRAYSON
(Sports Editor, NEA Service)

Ray Schalk points out that managers don't work to correct ball players' faults like they used to.

"Bill McKeechie of the Reds does, but few others," says the famous old White Sox catcher now guiding the Indianapolis club in the most exciting American Association race in years.

"When I joined the White Sox in 1911, Charles A. Comiskey had us at 10 in the morning, drilling us on weak points. He kept me catching high fouls for hours at a time, weeks on end.

"Players were tired by night. They didn't need midnight bedtime rules. They found their beds by themselves, and early too.

"Johnny Vander Meer pitched for Syracuse against my Buffalo club last season. He just threw standing up straight. He let the ball go at the shoulder.

"McKeechie and Lefty Grove of the Red Sox taught Vander Meer this spring to take a deep wind-up... to bring his swinging hands almost to the ground. That loosened up his back muscles, and now, as he comes through with his delivery, he lets the ball go between his waist and knee. This gives him a fast low ball... the hardest kind to hit.

"Last year we'd get Vander Meer out of there within three innings. But his fast one sinks now and the Yankees couldn't get him out of there all day."

Schalk insists that his 32-year-old Vance Page is the most overlooked pitcher in the minors. Page has won 14 games and lost three to date.

"Page is fast, has a good curve, a fair knuckle ball, control, and knows how to pitch," explains the man whom many consider the greatest backstop of all time. "Ted Lyons and Charley Root."

Schalk expresses the opinion that Lefty Williams would have been the finest pitcher in history had he kept out of the Black Sox scandal.

But if Ray had one game to win... had to have it... he'd pitch Grover Cleveland Alexander.

"Old Pete would throw about 90 pitches," says the one-time Illinois farm boy who made good in a hurry. "Today the average pitcher throws about 500."

Schalk would reinstate the spitball because it would help the pitchers and they need help. He is going to keep urging its restoration.

Greenberg Is After Ruth Home Run Mark

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

CHICAGO, July 28.—(UP)—Eleven years ago Babe Ruth hit 60 home runs. Today Hank Greenberg, Detroit first baseman, was ahead of Babe Ruth's pace, and everyone interested in baseball was wondering whether he could keep it up or not.

Greenberg yesterday hit No. 32 and 33. In 1927 Ruth hit his 33d home run in his 95th game of the season, Greenberg hit his in his 88th game.

While Greenberg's attempt to break Ruth's record is one of the vital issues in the sport today, it does not affect the pennant race. The New York Yankees continue to hold their game and a half lead over the Cleveland Indians by defeating the St. Louis Browns, 7-5. Cleveland beat the Philadelphia Athletics, 12-11, in a saw-saw game. In the other American league games Detroit triumphed over Washington, 9-4.

Pittsburgh gained a full game on the New York Giants by beating the Phillies 4-2. Floyd Young drove in four runs on a single, a homer, and a fielder's choice.

Fast bringing to a close one of the hottest pennant dashes in years, Orange County nightball leaguers again put all the chips on the table tonight in an effort to cash in on the Shaughnessy playoffs. Five of the seven teams are still very much in the running for the playoff series.

Tonight's games see the popular Laguna Beach team facing stern opposition from the fourth place Placentia Terriers at Placentia. A victory for Laguna Beach will again elevate them into contention. Irvine's Cubs get another chance to knock off one of the leaders, when they clash with the San Juan Capistrano nine on the Mission's city diamond. Costa Mesa, fresh from its 12-9 victory over Irvine's Cubs Monday night, travels to Tustin to face the league leaders. Yorba Linda's third place club enjoys a bye in their scheduled game.

Ask Anaheim To
Adopt U. S. Plan

For the first time in many years the city expenditures exceeded revenues during the fiscal year which ended April 30, 1938. This was brought to light when the council accepted the annual report of Miss Beatrice Miller, city auditor. During the year 1937-38, $382,917.55 was drawn on the general fund and only $336,215.52 returned to it from the regular sources, including $10,729.77 derived from the eight cent tax rate for general fund purposes. This leaves a deficit of $46,702.33 which was taken from the reserve.

Now it can be told. That is, we have the permission of "Horseman" Stanley and "Miracle Mace" to release the final outcome of that super-battle of handicappers. Just so you won't be kept in suspense we'll announce that "Miracle Mace" already has collected that carton of cigarettes and has smoked nearly half of them.

"Horseman" Stanley, after burning the midnight oil for 33 days looking over form charts, calling numerous tipsters and listening to chatter from Hollywood Park came up with 67 winners—or should we say went down with 67. On the other hand "Miracle Mace" wasted no midnight oil, slept his quota of 12 hours each night, trusted entirely to luck and second sight and came up with 69 winners. Stanley had a chance to win on the last day, but like "Miracle Mace" he didn't hit a winner.

Here's the official close of the 13 days, including handicappers who get paid for their work and those who don't bet on their own selections: Gwynne, Register handicapper and champion of all 86; McDonald 79; Lowry 78; Otis 80; Bernard 72; Hernandez 73; Collier 83; Horseman Stanley 67; Miracle Mace 69 and "Sweet Betty" Stephenson 68. The last name is just a rank outsider. He couldn't even outguess Horseman Stanley. See you at Del Mar.

Bat Boy's Special—Clyde Jeffrey, the Riverside Junior college sprint phenom, who is now touring Europe after breaking Charlie Paddock's world record for the 150 yard dash, is signed and sealed for Stanford, but the Trojans haven't given him a tryout yet. Dink Templeton, Stanford track coach says that Jeffrey is one that will not get away... except over his dead body. Anyhow that's the hope that Art Cohn of the Oakland Tribune is putting out and Art usually knows where he's putting when he puts.

Wonder who will get Venn Batts now that he's been canned from his job with the Richfield Oil company in Los Angeles? Seems as how the Richfield master got tired of paying Venn Batts' salary and having him pitch for three or four other teams, including Huntington Beach. Maybe Joe Rodgers will find a spot for Venn. But if he doesn't watch the scramble to sign the Oilers' ace hurler, Doc, the line forms at the left.

This guy Listerine Hill, better known as Memphis, is about as wrapped up in baseball as Tex Oliver is in football and believe you me that's being plenty cuddled up. Memphis got together with the game at Huntington Beach and then makes the circuit of Santa Ana, Anaheim, Orange and Irvine to see if there's still a game being played. Tuesday he coached the Oilers for nine innings and then watched the Santa Ana-Brea dozen stanza fracas.

Ever since "Big Bill" Cole and Tex Oliver arrived from Oregon and the talk on the streets has been football, we've heard six-count 'em—plans to attend the U. S. C.-Oregon contest at Portland on October 29. And it's still a good bet that Blas Mercurio may be a member of the Oregon team. Blas is in Santa Ana and so is Tex and Bill Cole. The heat is on or else the headman and his assistant have slipped since we saw them a few hours ago.

Speaking of long hitters in golf—and we weren't—Don Kennedy drove No. 10 green at the Santa Ana Country club the other day. Brother that's some drive when you figure there's a deep dip just in front of the green. 316 yards away from the tee. We understand that's why Riley Huber is walking with a cane these days. He says he sprained his foot, back and neck trying to outdrive Don. Walt Swenberger said Riley did it down in the basement of his store. Well if he did Riley sure was a long ways off the fairway. More later.

Morelli And Christy Head Wrestling Card

MAGILL, HOLLIS ALSO FEATURED ON TWIN BILL

DOUBLE MAIN EVENT
Tony Morelli vs. Ted Christy
Cecil Magill vs. Ken Hollis
SEMI-WINDUP

"Red Devil" vs. Don Juan Sebastian.
"Beano" Bill Hall vs. Tony Garabaldi.

Another "battle of the century" is scheduled for tonight at the Orange County Athletic Club when Tony Morelli meets Ted Christy, the "Sunland Terror" in the top half of the double main event on Promoter "Bud" Levin's weekly wrestling card.

The Morelli-Christy bout is expected to be one of the wildest matches that has ever been staged in the Highway 101 arena. Christy, one of wrestling's "problem" children depends on hidden punches and more or less unorthodox holds to win his match. Morelli uses the Italian smother, a cross between haymaker and second degree murder and the surf board.

In the second half of the double main Cecil Magill, speed merchant from Long Beach, takes on Ken Hollis of Abilene, Tex. Magill, who works off the ropes with speed and skill is expected to handle Hollis with his famous drop kicker. Both matches of the main event will be for two falls to a finish.

In the semi-windup "Red Devil" of West Virginia will wrestle Don Juan Sebastian. In the preliminary "Beano" Bill Hall, meets Tony Garabaldi.

FLEET BOXERS WILL FIGHT HERE MONDAY

For the first time since the revival of boxing sailors from the Pacific Fleet will fight on next Monday nights boxing card at Orange County Athletic Club.

Four sailors from the boxing team of the U. S. S. Vestal have been signed for preliminary matches on the card that will feature Fernie Baca, Santa Ana, in the top half of the double main event. Baca will fight Mickey Kaul of Los Angeles. In the second half of the double main go, Badge Diaz meets "Kid" Buddy of Los Angeles. Sal Baca, Diamond Belt champion fights Tino Sanchez in the semi-windup.

"Sailor" Joe George, 200-pounder from the Vestal heads the navy contingent that will fight at the highway arena. He is matched with Les Wasischen of Long Beach. Other sailors on the card include Jimmy Pollard who battles Ben Garcia, at 124 pounds; Jimmy Fynn vs. "Schoolboy" Paul Brown, Santa Ana, 135 pounds and Jack Darcy who will fight Bert Duran of Buena Vista.

JAPAN FAVORED TO DEFEAT CANADIANS

MONTREAL, July 28.—(UP)—Japan was a 2-1 favorite to defeat Canada in the North American zone Davis cup play which begins here today.

The winner of this best of five series qualifies to meet the victor of the Australia-Mexico series beginning in Kansas City, Mo., tomorrow. Winner of the North American final then will play the European zone winner for the right to challenge the United States for the cup.

Ross Wilson meets Fumateru Nakano in today's opening singles match, then will pair with Laird Watt for tomorrow's doubles match. Bob Murray, Canada's top ranking player, will tackle Jiro Yamagishi in the other singles match today. In Saturday's final singles matches, Wilson will meet Yamagishi and Murray will play Nakano.

Put Off Opening Of Deer Season

Deer hunters who heretofore have been going out at the opening of the season would do well to check up on the opening and closing dates before oiling up their guns, according to T. J. Neal.

The local sportsman announces that the deer hunting season in Santa Barbara and Ventura counties and the western area of Kern county will not open until August 15 and will close September 9. In years past the season opened August 1, but a conservation move is being made this year to avert the wholesale slaughter of deer.

The balance of the Southland has not been changed. All the rest of the counties in Southern California open the season August 1 and close September 15.

M'Lemore Works Out New Way To Get Rich

By HENRY McLEMORE
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 28.—(UP)—I wish I knew for sure if the Joe Louis-Max Schmeling fight film which is being shown in Germany has been as doctored and censored as reports say. According to one report from Germany the picture which purports to be that of the last bout between Joe and Max, is instead a hodge-podge of both their fights, the chief scenes being those which show Max beating the daylight out of Joe two years ago.

If there is such a film being exhibited, and if it is good enough to fool the good burghers of Berlin and environs, then I want to get in touch with the man who arranged it and bring him to this country. I want to place that man in charge of a news reel theater I have in mind—a news reel theater that will please every patron of sport.

My news reel theater will be called the "See What You Like and Nothing Else Theater." It will be the job of the man from Berlin to take the films of all sports events and doctor them so they will please everyone.

Take the picture of a Harvard-Yale game, which was won by Yale, 7 to 6, for example. Naturally, a picture whose climax comes when Yale completes a winning touchdown pass will be galling to Harvard men. So it will be the assistant's duty to dig up some film showing Harvard throwing a winning pass and stick that in the picture. Then we will advertise like this:

"Come and see the Harvard-Yale game pictures. Yale wins at 4, 6, 8, and 10 p. m. and Harvard at 5, 7, 9, and 11 p. m."

LOIS TERRY'S BAT WINS FOR LIONETTES OVER FILM GIRLS

Climaxing a brilliant climb from the second division the Orange Lionettes won their sixth straight American league game with a smashing 6 to 5 win over the Columbia Pictures nine before an overflow crowd of enthusiastic supporters at the Orange City park diamond last night.

The victory sent the Lionettes fifth on Genevieve Beck's triple carnelion into a first place tie with the Bank of America Girls, who last night defeated the powerful Young's Market Maids 3 to 2 at Sunset Field in Hollywood.

Cordius Hamilton's brilliant throw from left field on the last play of the game trapping Genevieve Beck off home plate with the tying run or Lois Terry's brilliant pitching and her home run in the fifth and triple in the sixth saved victory for the Orange nine.

The Lionettes broke the ice in the third inning when Cordius Hamilton scored on Terry's fielder's choice and Ruth Lee came in on Elsie Winchell's walk. In the fifth Lois Terry hit a home run to deep center field and Phoebe Miller followed with a double. Kasu Oshiki brought Miller in when she was safe on Elsie Coates' error at short. Ruth Lee's single and Lois Terry's triple followed by Miller's single ended the Lionette scoring in the sixth. The "movie" girls got two runs in the

NAGURSKI FAILS TO APPEAR FOR MATCH

LOS ANGELES, July 28.—(UP)—Sandor Szabo, Hungarian wrestler, said today he would claim Bronko Nagurski's world wrestling title because the former football star failed to come to Los Angeles for a match last night. Szabo won over a substitute, George Koverly, two falls out of three.

Nagurski telephoned Promoter Lou Daro from Minneapolis that he would not appear. Daro was reported considering asking the state athletic commission to take disciplinary action.

TWO 'BAD BOYS' IN CITY LEAGUE CLASH TONIGHT

SANTA ANA CITY LEAGUE (Revised)

W. L. Pct.
Elitist Company	6 1 .857
Santa Ana Elks	4 2 .667
Montgomery Ward	3 3 .500
Alliance Mutual Life	2 3 .400
Treesweet Products	2 4 .333
M. E. South	1 5 .167

The two so-called "bad boys" of the Santa Ana City league Santa Ana Elks and Alliance Mutual Life face each other in the feature attraction of tonight's double billing.

Both teams were set down by the City league softball commission for alleged violation of rule No. 4 governing eligibility. Bob Wimbury, Alliance Mutual shortstop and Ray Short, Elks fielder, were the center of controversial "surprise" turn of events. They both had played in the National league in violation of the rule, which says that any player may not participate in City league games if he has had more than two tryouts with a National league club or has been signed more than 14 days. The Elks dropped one game by the infraction and Alliance Mutual was penalized two games.

The game itself should develop into considerable of a pitchers' battle between Alliance Mutual's school boy hurler Everett Winkler of Tustin high and Bruce Harnois of the former National nightball player for the Elks.

The curtain-raiser brings together M. E. South's battling Mustangs and Treesweet Products. The first game will get underway at 7:30 p. m. Charlie Hill probably will be on the ridge for the Mustangs and either Walt Handley or Leonard Jefferson for the Orange Products boys.

The PAYOFF

BY HARRY GRAYSON
(Sports Editor, NEA Service)

Ray Schalk points out that managers don't work to correct ball players' faults like they used to.

"Bill McKechnie of the Reds does, but few others," says the famous old White Sox catcher now guiding the Indianapolis club in the most exciting American Association race in years.

"When I joined the White Sox in 1911, Charles A. Comiskey had us out at 10 in the morning, drilling us on weak points. He kept me catching high fouls for hours at a time, weeks on end.

"Players were tired by night. They didn't need midnight bedtime rules. They found their beds by themselves, and early too. "Johnny Vander Meer pitched for Syracuse against my Buffalo club last season. He just threw standing up straight. He let the ball go at the shoulder.

"McKechnie and Lefty Grove of the Red Sox taught Vander Meer this spring to take a deep wind-up . . . to bring his swinging hands almost to the ground. That loosened up his back muscles, and now, as he comes through with his delivery, he lets the ball go between his waist and knee. This gives him a fast low ball . . . the hardest kind to hit.

"Last year we'd get Vander Meer out of there within three innings. But his fast one sinks now and the Yankees couldn't get him out of there all day."

Schalk insists that his 32-year-old Vance Page is the most overlooked pitcher in the minors. Page has won 14 games and lost three to date.

"Page is fast, has a good curve, a fair knuckle ball, control, and knows how to pitch," explains the greatest backstop of all time. "He's a ball player's pitcher like Ted Lyons and Charley Root."

Schalk expresses the opinion that Lefty Williams would have been the finest pitcher in history had he kept out of the Black Sox scandal.

But if Ray had one game to win . . . had to have it . . . he'd pitch Grover Cleveland Alexander.

"Old Pete would throw about 90 pitches," says the one-time Illinois farm boy who made good in a hurry. "Today the average pitcher throws about 500."

Schalk would reinstate the spitball because it would help the pitchers and they need help. He is going to keep urging its restoration.

SEES BUMPER CROP OF MAJOR LEAGUE MATERIAL

Schalk sees a bumper crop of major league material in about two years, and credits this to night baseball.

"It's out of competition with golf and horses," says Leo T. Miller, the Indianapolis business manager. In 1932 the minors were so low that only 17 leagues were represented at the winter meeting, and only one, the International, was certain of all its cities. Last winter 37 leagues were in, and this year they're making more money than at any time since 1929.

Greenberg Is After Ruth Home Run Mark

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

CHICAGO, July 28.—(UP)—Eleven years ago Babe Ruth hit 60 home runs. Today Hank Greenberg, Detroit first baseman, was ahead of Babe Ruth's pace and everyone interested in baseball was wondering whether he could keep it up or not.

Greenberg yesterday hit No. 32 and 33. In 1927 Ruth hit his 33d home run in his 95th game of the season. Greenberg hit his in his 88th game.

While Greenberg's attempt to break Ruth's record is one of the vital issues in the sport today, it does not affect the pennant race. The New York Yankees continue to hold their game and a half lead over the Cleveland Indians by defeating the St. Louis Browns, 7-5. Cleveland beat the Philadelphia Athletics, 12-11, in a saw-saw game. In the other American league games Detroit triumphed over Washington, 9-4.

Pittsburgh gained a full game on the New York Giants by beating the Phillies 4-2. Floyd Young drove in four runs on a single, a home, and a fielder's choice.

Fast bringing to a close one of the hottest pennant dashes in years, Orange County nightball leagues again put all the chips on the table tonight in an effort to cash in on the Shaughnessy playoffs. Five of the seven teams are still very much in the running for the playoff series.

Tonight's games see the popular Laguna Beach team facing stern opposition from the fourth place Placentia Terriers at Placentia. A victory for Laguna Beach will again elevate them into contention. Irvine's Cubs get another chance to knock off one of the leaders, when they clash with the San Juan Capistrano nine on the Mission's city diamond. Costa Mesa, fresh from its 12-9 victory over Irvine's Cubs Monday night, travels to Tustin to face the league leaders. Yorba Linda's third place club enjoys a bye in their scheduled game.

Ask Anaheim To
Adopt U. S. Plan

ANAHEIM, July 28.—Nine electrical dealers Tuesday night petitioned the city council to adopt the federal Electric Home and Farm Authority plan. The council is studying the matter.

For the first time in many years the city expenditures exceeded revenues during the fiscal year which ended April 30, 1938. This was brought to light when the council accepted the annual report of Miss Beatrice Miller, city auditor. During the year 1937-38, $382,917.85 was drawn on the general fund and only $336,215.52 returned to it from the regular sources, including $10,729.77 derived from the eight cent tax rate for general fund purposes. This leaves a deficit of $46,702.33 which was taken from the reserve.

Boys' Program Of Legion Arranged

MIDWAY CITY, July 28.—Midway City American Legion post No. 555 planned at this weeks meeting to observe August 8, with every boy in the community invited to be present.

The post contemplates some sort of boys' work and at this meeting the boys will be privileged to express their views on projects favored by them.

The subject of the proposed sanitary district for Midway City for which petitions are now out, was discussed. It was reported that the wish of the people is almost 100 per cent in favor of a sanitary district, while the idea of incorporation of Midway City, which was contained on another petition which was carried by the same committee, was not favored.

Outline Plans Of Club At Newport

NEWPORT BEACH, July 28.—Members of the "High Heelers" were guests Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Gwendolyn Sweetman when plans for the future activities of the club were discussed. This is the second meeting of the recently organized group.

Present were Miss Irene Bray, Miss Gertrude Carpenter, Miss Gwendolyn Sweetman, Miss Edna Walker, Miss Adelaide Barbe, Miss Leota Durham and Miss Joy Simmons.

Auxiliary Group
Meets At Beach

NEWPORT BEACH, July 28.—An attendance of 37 members marked the session of the past presidents' parley of the Orange county, American Legion auxiliary Wednesday at the Newport Beach Legion hut. A number of guests were also present from Riverside county.

Guests were Mrs. D. Dickinson and Mr. and Mrs. R. Rippard. Mr. Rippard, who is a radio operator, and Mr. Dickinson were shipmates of Mr. Harbin, chief machinist's mate, on the "Black Hawk," the former having just been transferred to the San Diego and the latter to the Atlantic coast. HOLD EVERYTHING!

"Jones wants to go to his grandmother's funeral, but he's afraid the boss won't believe him, so he's asking to go to the ball game."

CITY WORKERS PLACE OIL ON STREETS, ALLEYS OF ANAHEIM

ANAHEIM, July 28.—As an aftermath of the flood, Anaheim is this summer laying a light covering of oil on all streets and alleys not already oiled and on the borders of all streets and alleys.

This light oil, which is applied by hand but with the aid of the power truck, will last only until the rainy season washes it away but will keep the dust down. Silt brought into the city in the flood waters has left a fine dust along the borders of streets and alleys and this has been some annoyance to the residents.

The street cleaning project which was granted under WPA after the flood was never quite complete when men were called off to be placed on the outfall sewer. It is expected to be resumed when the sidewalk and curb repair work is resumed about the second week in August.

Shower Is Held
In Garden Grove

GARDEN GROVE, July 28.—Miss Dorothy Knapp, Miss Frances Hammon and Mrs. Zeina van der Linde formed a hostess trio Tuesday evening when they entertained with a layette shower in honor of Mrs. H. Louis Lake at the former's home on East Garden Grove boulevard.

Upon arrival of the guests they were served a dessert course of individual cakes decorated with tiny storks, ice cream with a stork center, and coffee. After the packages had been opened and the gifts displayed, the remainder of the evening was spent playing prize, Mrs. Stuart Burnett, conbridge, Mrs. Lake won the first solution, and the traveling award went to Mrs. John W. Mitchell.

Invited guests were the honoree, her two sisters, the Misses Roxana and Edith Dale; Miss Gladys Cockerhan, Miss Myrtle Lake, Madelyn Short, Miss Beatrice Duff, Miss Phyllis Shreeves, Miss Juanita Dungan, Mrs. Lida Smith, Mrs. Dorothy Gedney, Mrs. Esther Dunham, Mrs. Stuart Burnett, Mrs. John W. Mitchell and Mrs. Floyd Wildermuth.

County Group To Meet At Laguna

LAGUNA BEACH, July 27.—This city will act as host to the League of California Municipalities at a dinner to be held at Hotel Laguna this evening at 6:45 o'clock. Principal speaker will be Lewis A. Burke whose subject, "Public Utility Franchises," is considered particularly timely.

Mayor Howard G. Heisler, who will welcome the guests, suggested yesterday that reservations be made with the hotel management by those wishing to attend.

MISSIONARIES HOME SOON

WESTMINSTER, July 28.—Word that Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Johnson, brother and sister-in-law of Dr. Russell Ivan Johnson, and their baby son, Curtis Ivan Johnson, are out of the danger zones of China and will reach home in about two weeks, has been received here.

Leaving California four years ago as missionaries for the Adventist denomination the Johnsons have maintained their residence on the Tibetan border where Mr. Johnson has for the past two years been superintendent of a large area of the mission field. Their young son was born in China. They will have a year's furlough from their work.

SIGN TALBERT TEACHER

TALBERT, July 28.—A new teacher has been engaged by the Fountain Valley school board to take the fifth and sixth grade classes, formerly taught by Miss Evelyn Hingfield, who resigned to be married this summer. Miss Naomi Ellis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Ellis and member of a pioneer Talbert family, has been given the position. Miss Ellis has been teaching in San Luis Obispo county.

MEETING SET FOR SATURDAY

NEWPORT BEACH, July 28.—The city planning commission placed its stamp of approval on the water, sewer, and city hall projects at a public hearing held at the city last night. The commission was undecided on other proposed municipal improvements and will discuss them at a special meeting called for Saturday noon.

Approximately 25 citizens attended the hearing, the second called by the commission to consider proposed improvements. Cost of the water project is placed at $140,000, with 123,000 for sewer improvements and $90,000 for the city hall site, building and furnishings.

It is probable that an election on the various projects will be held here in September. L. Deming Tilton, planning commission adviser, attended the hearing last night.

STORE ENLARGED

OCEANVIEW, July 28.—F. Noulter, proprietor of the Oceanview Drug store, is to put in an additional stock of goods and in preparation is putting an addition 30 by 8 feet into his present store. The added space is being taken from a rear room of the Nolter building and carpenters are now busy on the room.

British Ships Blaze Up and sink when Spanish Skies Rain Bombs

Small chance had the ships lying in the harbor of Valencia, provisional capital of the Spanish loyalist government, when bomb-laden Rebel fliers dropped their destructive "eggs." In the photo above clouds of smoke are seen rolling after a direct hit had turned one of the victims into a fiercely blazing furnace. Several British vessels were damaged or destroyed, bringing the total of British shipping casualties to over sixty.

Smoke pouring from her blazing hold, the British freighter Arion is shown above in Valencia harbor, after a direct hit by Spanish rebel fliers.

Still and peaceful are the waters of Valencia harbor in the photo above, but shortly before the picture was taken they were torn by explosives as Rebel aviators bombed Loyalist and foreign shipping indiscriminately. One of the several British ships destroyed is shown lying sunk at her dock. These sinkings, and others, caused a Parliamentary attack on Premier Chamberlain's "do-nothing" foreign policy.

AUSTRALIAN M.P.'s GET RAISE
CANBERRA (UP)—Members of the federal parliament are to have their salaries raised to the pre-depression level of $4000 a year. The prime minister's salary and allowance will also be raised to $16,000 annually.

SALES BOOSTED ON RUM STAMPS

Due to the new federal tax on liquor, effective on July 1, sale of liquor excise tax stamps in Los Angeles headquarters of the State Board of Equalization broke all previous daily records on June 28 with a total of $35,580.24, statistics released by the board show.

$360,856 For Month
The four final days of the month brought a heavy demand for stamps from dealers who were allowed exemption from the new tax on a limited amount of merchandise and took advantage of the opportunity to stock up. Receipts for the four days totaled $110,084.45 and for the month $360,856.38.

Belief that the new tax would result in a slump in stamp sales during July is not being borne out in the first half of the month, the board states, sales comparing favorably with those of previous Julys.

PEPPERDINE GROUP PLANS BROADCAST

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Pinkerman, 2715 Westshire Drive in Hollywoodland, who recently donated a beautiful apartment building to the George Pepperdine Foundation, will appear on the Saturday program of the George Pepperdine College over KFWB.

Pinkerman explained that the plan of the foundation, whereby it makes payments to the seller as long as the seller lives, and then the property reverts to the foundation, was the answer to what he had for many years been seeking to relieve him of worries of handling rental property . . . and to enable him to do some good with his money after he passes on. He and Mrs. Pinkerman will be interviewed by Pepperdine and will tell why they chose the foundation as an outlet for their gift, after inspecting the various projects of the foundation: the Pacific Lodge Boys' Home, the Helen Louise Girls' Home and the George Pepperdine College.

The property donated (subject to certain life interests) a beautiful 14-unit apartment house located at 5839 Montebello Parkway, a district that won first prize of the National Realty Board for layout and design. Pinkerman explained that the thorough investigation they made of the foundation and its projects so convinced them of the worthiness of the foundation that they wanted others to know about it, and therefore were willing to appear on the radio program.

Jimmie Fidler in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, July 28. — Idol Chatter: Wonder if Dick Powell will be as positive about "the correct way to raise a daughter" 15 years from now? After seeing the magnificent set of muscles Nelson Eddy hides under his shirt, think I'll be more discreet in my remarks about his temperament. Pome: How easy to get palpitation de coeur by appraising the figure of Dorothy Lamour. Jimmy Cagney really likes milk toast.

The rarity of Ronald Colman's screen appearances reminds me of what the Governor of North Carolina said to the Governor of South Carolina. Wish Louise Hovick wouldn't smile so much—it looks like an affectation. Cited for the red badge of courage: Frances Farmer—it must take courage to wear those street costumes that she affects. No matter how tasty the ready-made salad dressing, Annabella always insists on mixing her own.

Fred Astaire talks far more eloquently with his hands than he does with his lips. Studies in contrast: Bette Davis on the set and Bette Davis at home—as imperious as a second lieutenant, and as friendly as a kitten. The mantle of devoted husband seems to rest so lightly on John Barrymore's shoulders—that I am breathlessly awaiting the third act of the comedy. Today's cheerful little eye-fall: Eleanor Powell in the grass skirt she wears in "Honolulu."

Having reported so many selfish gestures made by Hollywood's stars, it is a real pleasure to go into reverse long enough to tell this little anecdote about Fred MacMurray. Some weeks ago, Fred decided that his stand-in, Henry Wise, should have more salary. He took it up with the director, who professed agreement and promised to "see to it." A week passed and nothing happened. Fred spoke to the director again, and received a second assurance—which proved just as fruitless as the first. Then the MacMurray lost his temper and strode into the production office. "Either Henry Wise gets a raise—or I won't report for work tomorrow," he announced, in a tone that left no doubts about his intention. He couldn't have got quicker action if he had held a gun to the producer's head!

Stopped in the M-G-M gymnasium today to watch a group of fighters rehearsing a boxing sequence for a forthcoming picture. Among them was Art Lasky—one of the prize ring's most famous heavyweights until he was forced into retirement by a blow which permanently injured his eyesight. While I was chatting with him, Jack Roper, another ex-great of fistiana, interrupted to inquire very solicitously about Art's eyes. "So-so," he replied—and chuckled when I observed, later, that Roper must be a good friend to be so concerned. "The reason he's interested in my eyes is—he's the guy who dimmed them!"

Most actors are so anxious to have the sure-fire, weekly paychecks which go with a studio contract that they sing the blues when their "termers" end and they are forced to work on a free-lance basis. But not Gene Raymond. Since losing his Radio Pictures contract, he has been the most contented man in Hollywood. The reason: RKO-Radio, afraid that an accident might cause a costly production delay, forced him to agree, in writing, to forewear all "dangerous" sports. Gene is now making up for lost time. He spends his morning jumping his thoroughbreds over barriers, his afternoons playing polo and his evenings taking flying lessons from a dare-devil pilot named Jack Phillips, who has just returned from the Sino-Japanese fracas.

Met Grace Moore's secretary on the Boulevard this morning and heard about the world's most expensive dish of spaghetti. Seems that the Diva, who is now in Paris, starring in a French production of "Louise," has been arguing with the other members of her cast about the relative merits of various spaghetti recipes. Yesterday her combativeness overcame her thrift and she cabled to her secretary, ordering her to send, by return cable, the recipe on page six of her favorite cook book. The total bill was nearly $100.

"Alfalfa," the freckled hero of "Our Gang" comedies, has joined the Boy Scouts and is too absorbed in in woodcraft to waste much time on his dialogue "lines." Today on the set, his memory slipped so often that the director quizzed him before sending him in front of the cameras for his big scene. "What do you say in your close-up, Alfalfa?" he demanded. Alfalfa's face went blank for a moment, then rallying to meet the occasion, he blurted, "You ought to know—you're the director!"

The Sandlot Vander Meer

Thirteen-year-old Arthur "Bud" Potts shows the start of the wind-up that gave him his second consecutive no-hit, no-run game in a grammar school league in Philadelphia and tied the record-making accomplishment of Johnny Vander Meer in professional baseball a few weeks ago. Arthur pitches for the Disston school team and his second straight no-hit game, a 7-0 victory over Whitehall school, was his fourth shutout in five starts. FLOWER SHOW GROUP TO AID

Announcement of a junior project as a feature of the third annual flower show, sponsored by Orange County Garden clubs, was made yesterday by Mrs. Fred Alden, chairman. The project will include both miniature gardens and miniature landscapes and ages of contestants is limited to boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 15 years.

The show will take place at the Valencia ballroom September 10 and 11. New features of many sorts are being planned by committees from all parts of the county. The entire setting for the show will be changed from that of last year.

Seek Display of Asters
According to Mrs. Alden, those in charge of the event are especially anxious to have a large exhibit of asters. It is not too late, Mrs. Alden states, to put out small aster plants which will be in bloom in time for entry in the show, expected to be the most colorful of any previously staged. Any Orange county resident may enter plants or flowers in the show, it is stated, and all are urged to do so. Garden club members are asked to donate plants for the plant sale to be held at the show. Those having anything in the way of plant life which is of especial beauty or interest are asked to place it on display at the flower show.

A meeting of the flower show committee will be held Tuesday at 9:30 a. m. at the Valencia ballroom. All members of committees are urged to attend.

When Mrs. Harry C. Westover entertained her afternoon bridge club Wednesday at the Balboa Island cottage where she and Senator Westover are so pleasantly domiciled, she added two tables to the group in compliment to an old family friend recently arriving to live in Santa Ana, Mrs. Charles Horne, and R. R. Bookstore.

That enclosed garden of the island cottage which has seen a succession of parties during the past few months, again was arranged as party setting. The vines climbing over its latticed walls, borders of vivid nasturtiums, and tiled grill and tables all combined to offer a delightful retreat to guests.

Ice cream smothered with raspberries, cookies, sugared and salted nuts and coffee were served by the hostess as pleasant introduction to the afternoon's diversions. Later new table groupings were formed for contract play, prizes in which were won by the honor guest, Mrs. Horne, and Mrs. Allen Vaughn Elston.

First of Party Series
Given to Compliment
Miss Metzgar

Last night in the pleasant home of Mrs. Charles Spicer, 2348 North Park boulevard, occurred the first of a series of parties inspired by the recently announced betrothal of Miss Eleanor Metzgar and Rouel Walker Klein. Mrs. Spicer and her daughter, Miss Mildred Spicer, joined in complimenting the charming young bride-elect, by inviting a group of her close friends for an evening of bridge.

Enhancing the beauty of the big home were the many flowers in soft pastel colors, with an especially charming arrangement of delicate blossoms for the small tables where a dessert course was served in advance of the evening's bridge play. Mingled colors seemed to distinguish all appointments, and especially the bridal design of the prizes awarded in bridge play, the first of which fell to the lot of Miss Ethel Walker, sister of Miss Metzgar's fiancé, and the second won by the honoree herself.

Award of bridge prizes introduced the special shower features planned by the hostesses. They had suggested to each guest that she bring an after-dinner coffee cup and saucer in Miss Metzgar's chosen pattern of Spode. Each of these gifts was wrapped in a different flower color befitting its dainty design, and all were enclosed in a big box wrapped and tied with rainbow hues. It made a complete demitasse set for the delighted guest of honor.

Mrs. Spicer and Miss Spicer included on their guest list with Miss Metzgar, her mother and sister, Mrs. Joseph H. Metzgar and Mrs. Lawrence Minge (Evelyn Metzgar); Miss Ethel Walker and her mother, Mrs. Bertha Klein; Mesdames Wyckoff, Hixie, Victor Morrison, Douglas Paterson, John Tressman, the Mesdames Marian Brownridge, Wilma Hoy, Marian Cruickshank and Mary Bowyer.

For the hosts had created a miniature of Newport harbor which was very cleverly done. The program which followed was an account of the trip to Washington, D. C., New York City and points in Canada from which Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Stein recently returned. Mr. Stein showed motion pictures taken on the trip, giving the guests an excellent understanding of the many interesting points visited.

Club Husbands Bidden
To Dine in Pretty
Garden

Domestic Arts as suggested by the name of that friendly group of matrons whose club associations have been maintained over a period of several years, were exemplified to their husbands in satisfactory manner last night, when the latter were honor guests at a garden supper.

Dr. and Mrs. Horace Leecing's spacious garden at 2117 North Flower street was scene of the gay affair. With its interesting equipment for preparing and serving alfresco meals, its games courts, and the lighting system that brings flowers, leafy nooks and all the charm of the landscaping into prominence, it was a happy choice as setting.

Hamburgers were grilled over sizzling flames, where other dishes of the supper menu were kept hot to be served with refreshingly cold salads and all the foods concocted by the hostesses. Peach cobbler was the main feature of the dessert course. Guests found places around the big garden table, with its gay red and white checked cloth and its bowl of deep red roses.

The croquet court, ping pong tables and tables for Chinese checkers were about equally popular during the evening hours.

The Rev. W. S. Buchanan, pastor of the First Christian church, and Mrs. Buchanan were honor guests, sharing the evening with Dr. and Mrs. Leecing, Messrs. and Mesdames Charles Johnson, C. F. Skirvin, T. P. Kingery, W. B. Martin, Thomas E. Williams, Mrs. Fleetwood Bell and Mrs. J. C. Sexton of this city, and Mrs. Leecing's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dudge of Costa Mesa.

Birthday Party Joys

Very gay indeed were the young guests who on Tuesday night helped Kenneth Loughton Jr. celebrate his ninth birthday anniversary, at a party planned by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Loughton in their home, 1660 South Birch street.

The lads were invited from 7 to 9 o'clock and spent a lively evening playing Chinese checkers in which Glenn Magham took first prize, playing in competition with birthday host, Kenneth Jr., and with Clayton McGill, Philip Knights, Dickie Crosby and Josh Wilson.

When Mrs. Loughton summoned the boys to the dining room for birthday cake, ice cream and candies, they found a table gay with favors and flowers shining in the light of many candles. Very boyish caps concealed masks and amusements inspired a merry time during which each lad told a story based on the particular animal which fell to his lot. As conclusion to the evening all enjoyed watching Kenneth open his many birthday packages.

Informal Evening Call
Gives Opportunity
For Shower

Taking prominence among pleasant affairs staged in the recently completed home of Mr. and Mrs. Rolla Hays on Balboa Island was the surprise party arranged as a compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Nalle.

Mr. Nalle is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Hays, and he and Mrs. Nalle had accepted a casually extended invitation to drop in and spend the evening. Much to their surprise, they were greeted by members of the Hays, Hudson and Bradstreet Insurance company and other friends, gathered to compliment them with shower gifts and good wishes.

One of the evening's features was a telling bee in which honors were spoken by Mrs. Frederic Dunstan and Mrs. Homer Chaney, with consolation awarded M. B. Youel. Mrs. Hays served refreshments to complete her hospitality, from tables gay with flowers. Gifts presented the honor guests included a beautiful bassinet from members of the agency.

Los Angeles office members were represented by Messrs. and Mesdames C. W. Hudson, B. H. Bradstreet and Gene Hays. Representing the Santa Ana office with the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Hays, were Messrs. and Mesdames Homer Chaney, Frederic Dunstan, M. B. Youel and Norman Paul, while party guests also included the parents of the honor guests, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Brownridge and Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Nalle.

Auxiliary Drill Team
Plans Saturday Dance

American Legion Auxiliary Drill Team met Tuesday night in the home of Mrs. Grace Sisson, Orange. Of special importance were plans completed for the dance to be held at Garden Grove Legion hall, Saturday, July 30.

The dance committee consists of Lucille Sullivan and Mrs. Grace Sisson.

Members also discussed the drill they will put on for the Legion and Auxiliary picnic at Santiago park, Thursday. Competition for drills will be held September 15, in Santa Monica, in connection with the department convention.

Mrs. Sisson had her home prettily decorated with daisies and refreshments were served in the late evening on individual trays. Present for the meeting were Fay Minnix, Emma Penn, Naomi McKee, Gladys Lieberman, Judy Wilcox, Sue Featherly, Bab Burdette, Geneva Welch, Edith Boulton, Ruth Anderson, Alta Marsile, Lucille Sullivan, Tona Sandon, Alice Dodder, Anne Leimer, Inez Halter and the hostess, Mrs. Sisson.

Y. L. I. Officers
Invited to Steak Bake

As newly installed president of Capistrano Y. L. I. Ada Wetzel (Mrs. Emil H. Wetzel) on Tuesday night brought all her sister officers together for a gala steak supper at Santiago park.

In preparing juicy T-bone steaks and their accompanying dishes over the park grills, the hostess was assisted by Mary Crawl. The tempting menu was served at a table gay with flowers. Covers were placed for the hostess, Mrs. Wetzel, Inez Seely, Minnetta Prager, Margaret Young, Helen Louise Comito, Lillian Glash, Carmela Tullio, Gladys Whitton, Beatrice Pardo, Carolyn Pardo, Stella Engelman and Mary Crawl.

Following the dinner event, the group gathered in the park cottage for an informal program of music and songs. Plans were completed for the regular institute meeting Thursday night in K. C. hall.

With one of the sportiest golf courses of the Southland, swimming and horseback riding, in addition to badminton, tennis and similar sports, the club offers something for all tastes.

Stanley Clayton, resident host, has been in this city for the past few days, and has reported among other new members, the Walter D. Glendinn Club Greet
Mrs. Coulson as
New Member

One new member, Mrs. Kenneth Coulson, was welcomed into Glendinn Bridge club Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. Harvey Dimmitt entertained the group in her home, 2346 Riverside Drive.

Mid-summer charm distinguished Mrs. Dimmitt's party plans, and her garden yielded great clusters of zinnias in a variety of hues, for brightening her home and the tables where luncheon was served.

Contract play of the afternoon was highly successful for Mrs. Albert Dyckman and Mrs. F. J. Hershiser, who made the two high scores. Their opponents were Mrs. Ray Wyckoff, Mrs. Harold Maylen, Mrs. Joe Steele, Mrs. Lloyd Folger, the new member, Mrs. Coulson, and the hostess, Mrs. Dimmitt.

For their first August meeting, club members are planning a mountain luncheon with Mrs. Lloyd Folger in her summer home in Silverado Canyon.

Prominent Temperance
Workers Arrive for Short Visit Here

Quite interesting guests now being entertained in this city are Dr. and Mrs. Leigh Colvin of New York City, who are guests in the home at 2434 Riverside Drive of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Aukerman and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Colvin, who is a cousin of Mrs. Aukerman's, was candidate on the Prohibition ticket, for United States president at the latest election. Both he and Mrs. Colvin are ardent workers in cause of temperance, and Mrs. Colvin is first vice president in the National W. C. T. U. Their present trip to the coast was to attend the National W. C. T. U. convention to be held next week in San Francisco.

This afternoon, Mrs. Aukerman and Mrs. Stephens were hostesses to a group of friends at a very informal garden tea, complimentary of their house-guests. Iced fruit punch and wafers served in the midst of the flowers and shady trees, added a pleasant touch of friendliness to the affair.

Eteri Group Enjoys
Pretty Garden Setting

Most an enjoyable evening was shared Tuesday by Eteri club members, entertained by Miss Irene Grimshaw in the delightful garden of the Joseph A. Grimshaw home, 1422 West Eighth street.

The summer home, with its window boxes, hanging baskets and its complete grill and table equipment, came into use for preparing and serving the supper enjoyed by the young people. Both Mr. and Mrs. Grimshaw aided their daughter in the hospitality. No less pleasant was the paved court of the garden with its bird bath and other interesting equipment, and the badminton court where some lively games were enjoyed.

Business features of the evening were in charge of Miss Irene Hunter of Pomona, leader of the group. Miss Evelyn Reeves, also of Pomona; the Mesdames Edith McKee, Mary Wilson and Bee Hilker, Los Angeles; Pansy Daniels, Fullerton; Ann Sutherland, Lucille Cowan, Mildred Cowan, Tustin; Ruth Jublin, Lois Taylor, May Wood, Ethel Duckett, Katherine Barney, Inez Miller La Dora Catherman, Virginia Thompson, Edna Gammell, Elsie Gossett, Mrs. W. L. Buddington and the hostess, completed the group.

Farewell Park Supper
Planned for Guest
From Missouri

When Mrs. Albert Calef concludes her Santa Ana visit in the home of her brother-in-law and sister, the Leonard Musicks, 911 West Camille street, she will treasure among memories of the Southland, that of the merry park party at which she was complimented Tuesday night.

This was made a family affair, with the various groups planning the gayety taking their children, to enjoy the charms of the park. Steaks were grilled and served with picnic fare at one of the conveniently located tables.

In the party with Mr. and Mrs. Musick and their guest, Mrs. Calef were the L. V. Browns and their three sons, Bob, Fred and Bill; the Leon Hamakers with three sons and a daughter, Gene, Don, Wally and Nancy Kay; the Howard McHenry and children, Delmer and Marilyn; the Leonard Musicks and daughter, Marty Jo; the Earl Leppers and the Ralph Mitchells.

Mrs. Calef will depart this evening for her Missouri home after a pleasant visit here with her sister and other relatives.

Pretty Garden Setting
Enjoyed by I. T. U.
Auxiliary

Receiving members of I. T. U. auxiliary in the garden of her home at 725 Cypress avenue, Mrs. E. W. Ellis opened her afternoon's hospitality Tuesday by serving a cool refreshment course. Instead of grouping guests around tables, she served on small trays, each embellished by a French bouquet.

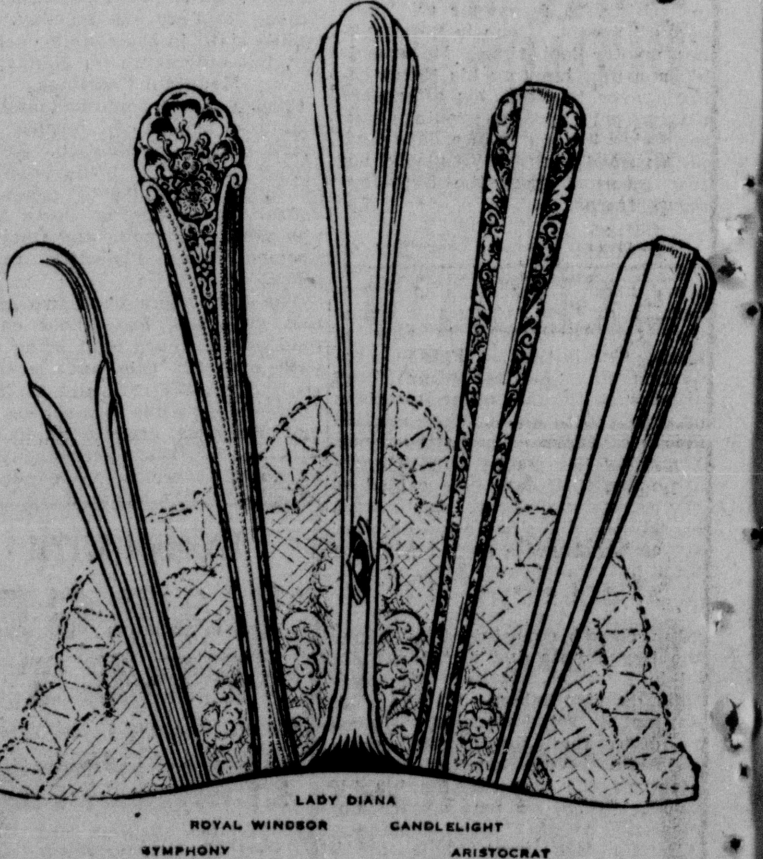

Tables were scattered over the grassy lawn for Chinese checkers, which offered entertainment for a merry hour and which yielded first and second prizes to Mrs. J. W. Jones and Mrs. J. W. Parkinson. Plans were made for coming party engagements, including August 9 with Mrs. Carl C. Thrasher of Orange Park Acres. Members are to meet promptly at 7 o'clock with Mrs. C. E. Fisher, 405 East Washington avenue, and so in a group to enjoy Mrs. Thrasher's hospitality.

One guest, Mrs. E. E. Freeman of St. Paul, Minn., accompanied her hostess, Mrs. Charles Clayton, to the Tuesday session, at which others present were Mesdames Dean Lawrence, O. K. Maxwell, J. W. Jones, C. E. Fisher, C. A. Rousseau, E. Y. Taylor, J. W. Parkinson and the hostess, Mrs. Ellis.

Constipated? You
Should Get at the Cause!

Lots of people think they can't be "regular" without frequent trips to the medicine chest. "I just dose up and get it over," they tell you. But doctors know they don't "get it over" 'till they get at the cause of the trouble! Chances are it's simple to find the cause if you eat only what main people eat—meat, bread, potatoes. It's likely you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement. If that fits you, your ticket is a crunchy breakfast cereal—Kellogg's All-Brain. It contains the "bulk" you need plus the great intestinal tonic, vitamin B. Eat All-Brain every day, drink plenty of water, and just watch the old world grow brighter! Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Mixing Bowl
BY ANN MEREDITH

The ability to bake fluffy rich gingerbread is an art perfectly exemplified in this recipe called—

Southern Gingerbread

1/2 cup sugar and 1/2 cup butter or vegetable fat
Add:
1 well beaten egg and
1 cup cooking molasses. Beat well.

Sift together twice:
2 1/2 cups flour
1 1/2 tsp soda
1 tsp, each, cinnamon and ginger
1/2 tsp, each, powdered cloves and salt
Add last:
1 cup very hot water.

Work dry ingredients into the creamed part very smoothly. Whip the hot water into the dough by degrees, then whip batter with egg beater until smooth.

Oil a large shallow pan, spread batter to depth of one inch and bake in a 350 degree oven about 20 minutes. For dessert, serve the gingerbread hot, with whipped cream or soft cheese.

When you want cupcakes as well as a rich dessert, divide the batter, add sliced dates, nuts or raisins for cup cakes, and use the balance in a banana upside-down cake. For this, put brown sugar and butter in the bottom of a pan, covered with a thick layer of sliced bananas, dredged with lemon juice, pour batter over fruit and bake 45 minutes in a medium oven.

One of your favorite recipes accompanied by a stamped, addressed envelope will bring your copy of the Calory List to you promptly. Send for it today.

Apricot Season

A branded conserve is just like that "mystical trick" in bridge—an honest-to-goodness life saver! When company drops in unannounced at meal time and the dessert can't be stretched, that's the time to break out a jar of this conserve and use it with ice cream with a topping of whipped cream, or just plain cake. Here's my tried and true recipe:

Apricots, peeled and sliced, to make two quarts of fruit loosely measured.
1 cup maraschino cherries, sliced.
1-2 cup blanched almonds, sliced.
One No. 2 can pineapple, diced.
One cup demon juice.

Eight cups sugar cooked to the soft ball stage with pineapple juice and water to make 2 1-2 cups liquid.
Two scant cups cooking brandy.
1-4 cup pecan.

Drop the apricots into heavy syrup and simmer until transparent before adding cherries, almonds, pineapple and lemon juice. Continue cooking until two drops of syrup will drip from side of spoon simultaneously, remove from fire, stir in brandy and liquid pecan and pour into clean small containers. Seal at once.

Whole Fruit
Apricots are ray deceivers! Ripe and uncooked, the flavor is bland but cooked . . . that's another flavor piquant and delightful! Do a few jars of apricots, canned whole, and keep them for serving over vanilla with ice cream or with cake.

Syrup: Boil 4 cups of sugar with 2 cups of water, for ten minutes. Add enough lemon juice to make the syrup mildly lemon flavored. Use firm, ripe apricots, peeled. Poach at one time just enough to fill the jar, allowing ten minutes for the poaching. Lift the fruit carefully into clean hot jars, boil up syrup, fill jars and seal.

LIONS CLUB TOLD OF CRIME
AND DRUGS BY L. A. OFFICER

ORANGE, July 28.—Capt. E. A. Chitwood of the narcotic detail of the Los Angeles police department was principal speaker at the meeting of the Orange Lions club yesterday, telling of the traffic in drugs in the various states in the union and of the decrease in drug peddling in Southern California during the past year due to intensive efforts of narcotic officers.

Capt. Chitwood declared that crime and the use of drugs are co-incidental as drug addicts almost invariably are criminals or sooner or later become criminals. Two criminals, both drug addicts, he said, had aided Los Angeles police in computing the amount a burglar must steal in order to keep himself in drugs. The sum was estimated at $100,000 worth of goods a year, which brought the burglar between $5000 to $10,000. Drugs cost the user from $7 to $15 a day, said the speaker.

One half of all crime is traceable to drug users, the Los Angeles officer declared, and the use of drugs throughout the greater part of the nation is increasing.

Captain Chitwood urged the permanent segregation of all drug addicts to some island where they would be compelled to raise their own products, would never be allowed to leave the colony and where they would be well treated but isolated as lepers.

Tom Clark was program chairman. Martell Thompson presided. Newspaper pictures of the national convention at Oakland were on display and reports of the event will be given next week.

What is this thing called a kilowatt-hour?

★ Most people know that a kilowatt-hour (KWH) has something to do with their electric bill, but beyond that the word is a mystery. The kilowatt-hour is used in the electrical industry to measure electricity just as the dairyman uses quarts to measure milk. The diagrams on this page will help you understand just what a kilowatt-hour is and what it means to you in terms of useful service.

A watt-hour is the amount of energy needed to lift a 1 lb. weight 264 ft.

A watt-hour is too small a unit for convenient measurement, so we use the kilowatt-hour which is

1000 watt-hours. $1000 \text{ WATT HOURS} = 1 \text{ KILOWATT HOUR}$ A kilowatt-hour is equal to 1000 watts being continuously utilized for a period of 1 hour. Thus one 100-watt lamp burning for 10 hours would consume 1 kilowatt-

hour. $1 \text{ KILOWATT-HOUR is equivalent to } 13 \text{ men}$ working for one hour. The average home consumes 50 kilowatt-hours a month—equal to 650 man hours of labor. If you paid this man only 25c an hour, it would cost you \$162.50. Yet the average family pays \$2.50 or less for an equivalent service.

GARDEN AND HOME

Orange County Gardening

By MRS. H. CARDOZA SLOAN,
Corona Del Mar

As I sit at my desk this glorious summer morning, I look out into my lathed garden. A pleasing movement of light and shade plays over the massed background of fibrous begonias and ferns against which the clear colors of the tuberos begonias glow like jewels. The air drifting in through the open window is fresh and cool and sweet with honeysuckle perfume. How blissful to relax mind and body and let the senses float tranquilly in this beauty of the garden at its high summer perfection.

But such moments are short, for the spirit of the true gardener must ever be projecting itself into the future. Ours not to drift languidly through the summer days. No, we must be up and doing in order that there may be loveliness in next spring's garden, to say nothing of flowers to bloom this winter, and perennials to gladden future summers.

"A garden is not made by saying, 'Oh, how beautiful!'"

And sitting in the shade, No, indeed. And nature has set the intervals between seedtime and harvest. The daffodils, the hyacinths, the tulips, the scillas and muscari and snowdrops that greet the winds of March with beauty, must be planted in the fall, which means bulbs ordered in August or September at the latest.

The anemone, columbine, delphinium, hollyhocks, and other rare perennials which will grace the garden through many summers blossoming must be sown in August.

Seeds To Sow Now
Pansies, violas, stocks, primulas, sweet peas, calendulas for the winter garden? Sow the seed in August.

I am going to mention a few things which I feel will add to the joy in any garden. Not new, but proved as to worthiness and hardiness. You will know most, or all of them. This is just a reminder and includes only a few of the things which we must plant in the coming month.

When placing your order for spring-flowering bulbs, include some French Roman hyacinths. These are much more easily grown than the Dutch hyacinths. Their single petals, loosely-spaced bells are charmingly dainty and they have the hyacinth perfume. The blue ones are pretty and the white ones, which bloom earlier, even lovelier.

For Backgrounds
Then I would most certainly plant some Watsonias toward the back of the border, giving them plenty of room. They have such fine clumps of long, swordlike foliage, and such splendid spikes of bloom. O'Brieni is pure white, and there are many hybrids giving clear pastel colors.

Another fine plant for the background is the foxglove, a biennial. It grows 5 to 7 feet tall, needs lots of room, has handsome foliage, and grand spikes of bloom and will self-sow liberally by the thousands. The Shirley has been the standard digitals for some years, coming in rose, white and lavender. Now we have new hybrids which give us giant flowers in salmon shades.

A perennial which should be planted lavishly in our Southern California gardens is the pentstemon. So easy to grow from seed that it is often treated as a long-lived annual. It has a long season of bloom and makes attractive beds of color. It has large spikes of flowers, resembling the foxglove in shape, and may be purchased in shades of red, rose and violet. Some of our seed stores offer the California pentstemon spectabilis, which is a truly royal plant and could be grown in a garden as I have seen it growing on burnt-over mountainsides in the San Jacinto mountains it would be one of the most strikingly handsome flowers. Perhaps it can be so sown—why not try it?

Early Larkspur
Larkspur everyone should plant in quantities, the early flowering and the newer tall branching. Wonderful masses of color, carmine, pink, rose, lilac, light blue, and the magnificent dark blue. And fine for indoor decoration.

For a slightly shaded moist place, plant that lovely California native, baby blue eyes (nemophila insignia) as lovely a little flower as you can grow. It will grow in full sun, too, keeping a little lower to the ground.

Two other little California natives are worthy a place in the garden, phacelia whitlava, which has bell shaped flowers of deep purple blue; and phacelia viscaria, with brilliant blue flowers, smaller and more open bells than whitlava. Both these are highly esteemed in English gardens, though little cultivated here.

The native columbine, aquilegia truncata, which is a perennial growing to three feet tall, has scarlet flowers, yellow tipped, hanging gracefully from slender, bending stems. While this is not as lovely as the garden columbines which come in such tempting colors and add so much grace to the spring garden, had I the proper place I would have a few of the wild columbines of my girlhood, swaying in scarlet grace at the base of old gray granite boulders, over which chipmunks scampered, and above which hung the newly leafing trees of New England spring.

A Gay Border
For a gay low border try linaria, sometimes called the baby snapdragon. Only grows a foot to a foot and a half tall but makes

State Head Tells Aims

Garden objectives for state garden clubs for the coming year were outlined recently by Mrs. James M. Reed, state garden chairman, of the California Federation of Women's clubs. The objectives are as follows:

Special emphasis on "Trees." All Federation garden groups are asked to feature this topic by programs and projects.

A garden for every home. Encouragement of vegetable gardening and the planting of berry bushes and fruit trees.

Use of quality seeds and plants. Well-kept lawns, hedges and trees, considering a garden as all the planting about the home).

Garden good taste—design fitted to style of architecture, size and topography of lot, rather than a striving for oddity.

Liveable gardens, planned for the use and enjoyment of the family. Nature appreciation—appropriate songs, poems and plays, lectures on wild flowers and birds; tours through gardens, nature trails, public parks, nearby woods and along water courses.

Use of native plant material. Cooperation with other agencies in communal beautification.

Active participation in the starting and guidance of Junior garden clubs.

Sponsorship of state and national conservation.

Study of garden backgrounds; history of plants and plant names; biography of naturalists, plants in medicine; gardening through the centuries; botanical gardens.

"America, beautiful, lies in the hands of the gardeners."

HOW TO STAGE SHOW IS TOLD

Garden clubs, here is a really exciting book that will make you eager to get to your next flower show, says the Christian Science Monitor. "Flower Shows and How to Stage Them," by Adele S. Fisher (Richard R. Smith, 120 East 33rd street, New York City, $5). It has 176 extra size, smooth pages packed with practical, specialized information, and full of useful pictures, charts, diagrams, and lists. We know that such a book is needed, for we have referred flower-show inquiries to chapters in the books written for garden clubs. This volume is, of course, a much more detailed treatment of the subject, taking up the duties of each member of the show committee, the layout of the show, the advertising, entry lists, judging, arranging of exhibits—everything in fact, even to the clean-up job after it is all over. We were interested in the brief descriptions of flower shows of the past, beginning with one staged by "The Ladies' Garden Club of Athens, Georgia," in 1894. We also pored over the highly illustrative photographs showing treatments, the best kinds of containers, exhibits from children's flower shows and education exhibits teaching the control of pests.

NEW DISCOVERY

Discovery that tomatoes have a skin that is practically gas-tight and "breathes" entirely through its stem scar, led to a simple process developed by Dr. Charles Brooks of the United States Department of Agriculture which more than doubles the time they may be stored under ordinary temperatures. It involves the use of one part beeswax, one part paraffin and two parts of mineral oil in a bit of solution poured over the stem scar. It is especially valuable for tomatoes being shipped long distances.

Bothersome angle worms are brought to the surface within thirty minutes following an application of a worm eradicant.

A perfect rainbow of color, and is good for cutting, too.

Nemesia is another good annual for a low border, really lovely flowers. Grows quickly. Comes in mixture, or the nana compacta forms in several separate colors, of which the improved blue gem would be my choice.

Try cynoglossum, the Chinese forget-me-not, for another lovely blue flower. (Do I need to say I am particularly fond of blue flowers?)

Then for a low edging plant the English dairy (bellis perennis montrosa) white, rose or mixed, or the new lilac. A joy to grow from seed, it comes so easy. And such sturdy little plants to set at the border's edge.

The trouble is, when we sit down with a catalogue, and are reminded of all the floral beauty we may have just for a little seed sown together. Don't let the flats dry out, and protect from bugs and birds.

And here is a tip to insure more thrifty seedling plants, something the commercial growers do. When the little seedlings are up, sprinkle a pinch of blood meal between the rows. And while the little plants remain in flats, repeat this every ten days or so. Good garden loam with a little sand and a little leafmold all make a finely sifted mixture, makes a good medium for seed sprouting. Some people use leafmold and peat moss finely sifted together. Don't let the flats dry out, and protect from bugs and birds.

Well, girls and boys, let's get on with the seed sowing.

Care Made The Difference

Rose black spots can be controlled. Above left is a Los Angeles rose plant in mid-August that had been periodically sprayed with a mild sulphur spray, while the photo at right shows a plant which received no treatment. Rose plants that lose their leaves in mid-summer are forced to grow a new set, thus weakening the plant and materially dwarfing it, as well as eliminating all possibility of the usual fall bloom.

Lawn Green Care Keeps REMOVE PLANTS IF UNHEALTHY

THINK of your lawn as a bed of grass plants. . . . Feed it and water it just as you do the other parts of the garden.

DON'T let bare patches develop in your lawn. Rake up the soil, scatter some grass seed, sift some fine soil over it, and firm down. Patches, besides being unsightly, offer excellent accommodation to weeds.

THE AVERAGE lawn grass mixture will make a good lawn if you sow one pound of seed to every two hundred square feet of ground. Never cover the grass seed too deeply. Barely cover the seed with fine soil, but make a firm seed bed by tramping over the soil or by using a roller. Be careful if your soil is heavy clay or you may make a hard surface crust.

WATER your lawn thoroughly during hot weather. Don't sprinkle the surface—soak the soil to a depth of two inches. Mere surface watering draws the grass root to the surface of the grass. Deep soaking encourages the grass roots to grow down into the soil.

LAWNS should be given regular feeding of a complete lawn fertilizer. New lawns need ten pounds of lawn fertilizer to every two hundred square feet of soil. Rake it into the top two inches of soil before sowing the seed. Old lawns should have monthly dressings of fertilizer throughout the growing season. Scatter five pounds over every two hundred square feet of lawn, and water in thoroughly.

DAHLIAS WILL BE SHOWN HERE

Dahlias, those aristocrats of flowers, are being carefully tended by many growers who are planning to enter them in the third Orange County Fall Flower Show at the Valencia ballroom, 101 highway, September 10 and 11. All Orange county gardeners are eligible as exhibitors. The show is being sponsored by the combined garden clubs of the county. All sort of dahlias will be shown from the tiny pom-pom types to ones of almost incredible size. The brilliant colors and wide variety of types is expected to make the dahlia display one of great interest.

An expert gives the following advice for disbudding. Disbud flowers. Usually, at the tip of a shoot, three buds will be formed. They join the stem.

Plant new lawns and renovate old lawns during fall months.

As soon as the center bud is the size of a large pea, remove the side buds. Also remove the little shoots from two or three pairs of leaves below the tip, where shoot, three buds will be formed. they join the stem.

Dahlias like these and many types of others will be seen at the Orange County Flower Show scheduled for September 10 and 11 at the Valencia Ballroom on 101 highway. The dahlias that grace this smiling girl are a fairly new variety named for the famous channel swimmer, Gertrude Ederle. County dahlia growers are urged to exhibit blooms. The show is sponsored by the Garden clubs of the county and Mrs. Fred Alden is chairman.

Through the Garden Gate

With MARAH ADAMS

The flash of a bird's bright wing in a sunny garden filled with flowers on a summer morning, seems the final needed touch to complete a garden owner's happiness . . .

In my own rather nondescript garden every morning there arrives orioles, linnets, wild canaries, saucy blackbirds, noisy blue-jays and dashing mockingbirds . . . the gay assemblage expect a breakfast of crumbs to be awaiting them and if breakfast is not ready there is soon a chattering and scolding which would awake the soundest of sleepers . . .

Yesterday I heard a new sound in the chorus . . . a curious tapping . . . not a tapping at my window pane in the manner of Poe's immortal raven . . . but certainly a great deal of tapping on the trunk of the old fig tree by the back door . . . and there walking up and down the trunk of the tree as confidently as you please was a big woodpecker . . . this first bird of this kind to visit my backyard . . . a yard that goes its own way all day . . . and is only washed and brushed up a bit in early evenings . . .

I often think of the verses written sometime ago for this page by Mrs. Gazette Sharp . . . Mrs. Sharp had been on a garden tour through a number of beautiful landscaped gardens . . . when she went home her own garden, by contrast, looked rather commonplace . . . however, in the morning when she went out to look at it . . . there it was, fresh and lovely as ever . . . Mrs. J. E. Paul, district chairman of Garden Clubs, had improved an effective way of watering plants of which she read in a little magazine called the "Garden Digest." A leaky pail was suggested as a way to water plants and insure a deep soaking . . . Mrs. Paul places a layer of fertilizer in the bottom of the pail before filling it with water, thus providing food and drink at the same time . . . the pail is placed by one plant where it is slowly emptied then it is refilled and moved to another . . .

Mrs. Paul found another timely suggestion regarding dahlias . . . peeling the skin from the stem of the flower is said to aid in keeping dahlias fresh for a comparatively long period of time after they are cut . . . a dull knife may be used . . . dahlias should be placed in cold water and set in a dark place for at least several hours after cutting . . .

On the north side of the road on Main street, Tustin, is, perhaps, a half mile of squash vines with quite the biggest and yellowest squashes imaginable . . . fall is certainly just around the corner . . . but California falls are usually more summer-like than summer . . .

Did you ever notice the morning glory vines which cover a high fence and building at the southwest corner of Spurgeon and Third street? These vines, which are thick and luxuriant show what a morning glory vine can do if it really wants to . . .

Saw a pewter plant filled with the beautiful "D. Eymen" Huff dahlias named for their developer in Hewes Park . . . the arrangement was decidedly "different," the flowers with stems cut short, floating in a shallow container in a way that made them look like one huge blossom . . . this bloom is a gorgeous plum color shaded with light to dark and with a dusty line of white on the edge of the upturned petals . . . the flowers were shown in a downtown shop in Orange . . .

Coming into Santa Ana from Tustin this afternoon noticed that the tall roll of palms in front of the old Halladay place on East First street are waving their fan-like leaves from recently well scraped trunks . . . how tourists must enjoy the sight of the tall palms along First street toward Tustin . . . if motorists just knew that by turning south on Lyon street to East Chestnut street, they would see a bit of Southern California's most beautiful scenery . . .

Here is one of the big walnut groves which formerly were numerous and which are being replaced in so many instances by young orange groves . . . and bordering the road and bending thick green branches over it, are a row of big chestnut trees for which Chestnut street is named . . . the chestnuts in paler green and bristly husks are fast approaching the state requisite for roasting . . .

Don't forget the Anaheim lily pools in Anaheim city park . . . especially if you have visitors . . . these pools have been pronounced by authorities on water gardens to be the most beautiful in Southern California . . .

Mrs. Kenneth Morrison, wife of Judge Morrison, is growing tuberos begonias . . . Mrs. Morrison is an enthusiastic gardener and she has a small lath house as a beginning of her begonia adventure at her home at 524 Linwood. Tuberos begonias may be grown too, in well protected spots out of doors as Mrs. Perry Grout, Fairhaven avenue, has demonstrated . . .

Real honest to goodness "lowly" corn is reaching for the skies along the driveway of the home of J. W. Law, 315 South Birch street. An Iowa visitor here gave Mr. Law an ear of corn which he shelled and planted. The corn is fully 15 feet high and several of the ears have developed . . .

SERIAL STORY MYSTERY AT THE LAZY R

BY CLARKE NEWLON

NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
NIKKI JEROME, heroine; blond, popular, is engaged to six-foot, black-haired STEVE MALLORY, hero; who is accompanying her on a trip to Nikki's aunt and uncle on a Wyoming dude ranch. Nikki's father, PETER JEROME, is a wealthy New York jewel merchant.

Yesterday: Nikki and her uncle and Steve are to take a mountain trip and Sarto, Bancroft and Fiske decide to go too!

CHAPTER VII

THEY took the trail just as the sun broke in dawn and sent its first warming rays into the mists that formed a soft, white cloak over the hills toward which they rode in pairs, conversing and adjusting their bodies to the gaits of the fast-walking animals.

Nikki rode with Steve and realized, in the grandeur of the breaking dawn, that she loved this man very much and that she was being distinctly unfair to him. Anything might happen on this trip, she thought, and decided to tell Steve about Bancroft and the money at the first opportunity. In the meantime she rode beside him in silence and told him with her eyes that she loved him greatly.

Long before they stopped to eat the sandwiches that had been prepared and to boil coffee over a tiny fire, the trail started upward and became more and more rocky. Once they crossed a dry river bed that was a tremendous trail of boulders walled in on either side by cliffs along which the seams and formations traced irregular patterns.

Their pause for lunch was brief for Uncle Jim wanted to reach the cabin before dark and the worst of the trail lay yet ahead. As they started out again he arranged them in single file and warned each rider against trying to pass another or of getting too close on the trail.

Rance led the way, followed by Nikki, Uncle Jim, Fiske, Sarto, Steve, Bancroft, and Woody, who brought up the rear to keep any of the little party from straggling too far back.

The trip appeared to be a hardship for Sarto alone. He was distinctly not an outdoor man and nature to him meant taking a taxi through Central Park—when it was the shortest route to his destination. He clung to his saddle as the trail narrowed and hunched miserably in his seat, scowling silently. The pack trip was obviously not of his choosing.

THE trail wound along the side of a cliff, tortuous and rocky.

On the inside rose the sheer walls of stone, washed clean by centuries of mountain storms, marked with the oddly colored lines of capricious reds and blacks against the brown. On the other side, the mountain sloped off steeply but not dangerously. A daring horseman could have ridden down the side had he chosen. It was dotted with clumps of low-growing bushes and trees that clustered courageously in the soil around the boulders.

But in spots the violent torrents of the spring thaws had burst over the trail and rushed down the mountain side in foaming white cascades, stripping the slope of its bushes, stunted trees, and boulders, transforming the decline into a sudden, breath-taking drop that might be 50 or might be 200 feet straight down before the break ended in a rough bed of granite.

They had been on that upward trail several hours when it happened. Nikki was watching her horse stepping carefully at the heels of Rance's mount. Behind her Uncle Jim hummed a monotonous little song and paid small attention to a trail that was long familiar to him.

Behind her uncle came Fiske, quiet and observant, and back of him rode the glowering Sarto. They were passing one of the sections of the trail narrowed by the snow-laden torrents and the path hung precipitously over awe some nothingness on the right. There wasn't over 20 feet of danger and then the trail widened and fell off into gradual sloping ground again.

NIKKI heard a sudden fright—ended yell and turned to see Sarto's horse plunging forward, hugging the inner wall. Sarto clung to the pommel, his head ducked forward into the steed's mane.

The quick lunge carried Sarto's horse crowding between the wall and the mare ridden by Fiske. The mare fought desperately for balance. Her iron-shod hoofs struck sparks as she slipped on the edge of the trail.

"Throw yourself off," shouted Uncle Jim, twisting in his saddle, helpless to aid.

There was only an instant as the mare hung on the brink. Fiske leaned desperately to throw his weight inward. Sarto's horse surged forward again in frightened leaps and broke through.

Steve, riding directly behind Sarto, reined in his horse abruptly at Sarto's unexpected lunge. He could see the quick, deadly drop off the trail, the narrow path upon which two horses could not stand side by side. He could see just ahead the safety of the sloping mountain with its dotting shrubs and small trees.

That safety lay a bare seven feet ahead of Fiske.

The final plunge of Sarto's horse thrust Fiske's mare far out on the edge. One hind foot slipped over and paved into the thin air. She fought and lost the battle for balance.

Then Steve moved. With the sudden skill of years of polo played on the edge of the trail, he leaned forward and brought his flat hand down brutally hard on his mount's rump.

His horse bounded forward and struck Fiske's mare almost as she slipped off the trail. The momentum of the blow carried the mare forward and in. She was safe. So was Fiske. But the motion threw Steve's horse to the outer edge, fighting for footing on the last few feet of the trail which overhung the precipice.

STEVE lost his balance and plunged over the edge of the cliff, but the force of the fall carried him past the precipice. He grabbed a clump of bushes as he slipped downward and clung on desperately. His horse scrambled forward, lost its footing, rolled over twice and finally stopped against a tree, got up and shook itself vigorously.

Uncle Jim was off his horse by that time with a rope in his hand. He tossed the noose down to Steve, snubbed the other end around his saddle horn.

"Slip it over your arms," he shouted, and Steve managed to find footing long enough to get the noose over his head and shoulders. Rance and Uncle Jim hauled him back up.

Sarto still sat his horse sullenly. Fiske was leaning against the wall. He came over to give Steve the final helping hand back up on the trail.

"Thanks," he said, and his voice meant it.

"That was mighty quick thinking," said Uncle Jim.

"Mighty quick acting, too," said Rance.

Nikki was standing back, her face white, and she couldn't get over the feeling that her knees weren't going to support her much longer. Steve came over and she clung to him.

"I'm all right, honey," he told her and laughed gently.

"I know you are now," she said, "but you weren't a minute ago and you might have been killed. Oh, Steve."

LUSH GARDENS MADE WITH NEW APPLIANCE

A new appliance for watering lawn and garden is made of a specially constructed canvas which allows water to seep through its porous surface thoroughly dampening the ground for a radius of approximately four feet on each side over its entire length. It can be purchased in lengths of 18 and 30 feet, is inexpensive and durable, is closed at one end and attaches to the garden hose at the other. It can be moved from place to place without turning off the water, and is economical in that every bit of water released soaks down into the soil.

L. A. Thieves Rob Oil Men Of H. B. NEED NO SOIL SAYS NEW BOOK

A recent book will prove of great interest to those gardeners who have been turning their attention to gardening without soil. The volume is "Soilless Growth of Plants" and it is published by the Rheinholt Publishing company, New York.

Dr. Swaney is well known for his research work in the chemical field and Ellis is a distinguished scientist and inventor. It is claimed that the book is the first to be published on the art of growing plants without soil by the use of nutrient solutions.

"Soilless Growth of Plants" is a concise and non-technical discussion of the chemistry of plant life and a review of the three methods of raising plants without soil namely by means of water-irrigation systems and by sub-irrigation systems.

Included are numerous household experiments, supplemented by photographs, which would enable the reader to carry on experiments in soilless growth at home for the purpose of raising vegetables and flowers for the family.

SAVE SILVERSDOR

The rare and lovely silversword plant of the Hawaiian Islands is safe, for the present at least, from extinction. Growing in the crater of Haleakala and on its walls, the plant has been the object of special care by the U. S. National Park Service, with the result that now some 1400 plants are flourishing in the crater.

OUTRAGED BY BABYLONIAN KING 2200 YEARS FIRST SCIENTIST

AVIGNON, France (UP)—A prosperous Greek city of 300 B. C. has been uncovered by archaeologists digging in the Provence district of France, a district which numerous Roman ruins already have made an archaeologist's paradise of the area.

A dozen villas, 52 Greek altars, a pagan temple, and a quantity of Greek pottery, busts and jewelry indicate that life must have been prosperous and pleasant 2,200 years ago in the Greek town which once stood upon what is now called the "Plateau of Antiquities" at St. Remy.

Most of the altars are dedicated to Silvanus, god of the forest. Others are consecrated to the Goddess Cybele, whose ancient mythology was the wife of Saturn and the mother of Jupiter. Archaeological experts working under the direction of M. Jules Formige, of the French ministry of fine arts, also dug up more than 40 small votive lamps and a magnificent ring made from a single piece of rock crystal and ornamented with the head of a woman.

One of the houses, which did not show the slightest trace of any Roman influence, consisted of 12 rooms arranged in an atrium where the "sees of four columns are still visible despite the 2,000 years that have elapsed.

Excavations were made in an area 200 feet long and 70 feet wide, close to an old Roman road. Before the Greek city was uncovered, a supporting wall for the Roman road was brought to light.

The valuable discoveries have been placed in the museum of St. Remy. The latter, a modern town, probably was once a stopping place for "salesmen" and merchants from the Mediterranean at the time when the Merterrean port was a Greek city. Substantiating the supposition is the fact that many Greek coins minted in Marseilles were among the finds in the recent diggings.

DRIVE CAREFULLY—SAVE A LIFE—

LEARN TO KEEP YOUR FEET

Safety councils all over the country have done almost spectacular work in stemming the tide of traffic deaths and injuries, principally by pressing aggressive programs of education among motorists and school children.

But now it turns out that there's a "forgotten man" in the traffic safety campaign, according to one of the Safety Council's publications. He's the man on foot, the adult pedestrian, and his case has been sadly neglected. A move to establish advisory clinics for his benefit is now afoot. Wichita, Kans., already operates one.

That a need exists for such clinic appears from the traffic figures of 13 large cities. Pedestrian deaths, the figures disclose, compose 75 per cent of the total accident fatalities in those communities.

In the meantime, any pedestrian with an ounce of sense can increase his life expectancy by himself, simply by remembering such simple rules as: Don't cross intersections diagonally; don't try to beat the crossing light to the draw at the last minute; don't trust to the driver's consideration; don't try to look at ten pretty girls at the same time from the middle of the street.

THE GOOD AIR

No doubt there'll be a number of hurt feelings among some of the business figures in private aviation after the new Civil Aeronautics Authority gets to work, just as there were in other transportation fields in the early days of the Interstate Commerce Commission, but one man who probably isn't going to be upset in the slightest is John Q. Citizen of the dark derby and brush mustache.

Too many of his kind still applaud without reservation round-the-world flights, thrill from top to toe at the sight of a giant transport, and then murmur privately: "As for me, I will continue to keep my feet and my fundamental planted right down on the good earth."

The new government body's scope is comparable to the I. C. C.'s, but what is of paramount importance to John Q. is the fact that the first thing it's going to concentrate on is passenger safety. Among the jobs it will undertake are a thoroughgoing inquiry into safety regulations and practices, a study of airports, planes, miscellaneous equipment and personnel, and a campaign to get weather data into the hands of all passengers and honest reports on crashes before the reading public.

It may be the first realistic step toward making a dodo of the man who says, "You wouldn't get me into one of them things for all the rice in China." The way to make him a dodo is to make the air safe.

OPPORTUNITY TO LIVE

The public playground is so common a feature of the modern city that it is hard to realize that it is still a fairly youthful institution. It actually is only a little more than one generation since the first playgrounds were established.

This is called to mind by the fact that today, July 28, has been designated "National Joseph Lee Day" by the National Recreation Association. And if you don't know who Joseph Lee was, it might be worth your while to find out.

Joseph Lee was a wealthy Bostonian, the son of an aristocratic banker. Graduating from Harvard in the 1880's, he decided that he had all the money he would ever need and that he would devote his life and his fortune to the promotion of play and recreation.

He came to this decision in an odd way. He read in his newspaper, one day, about a group of Boston boys being arrested for playing in the streets. So he decided to do something about it.

Do something he did; and that "something" was a driving, unceasing campaign to persuade people to provide play space for children. He made an elaborate study of the causes of juvenile delinquency, helped develop a model playground in Boston, helped to organize the Playground Association of America, devoted years of his life to its service, and, all in all, gave some $360,000 of his own money to further the cause.

It is indisputable that Joseph Lee was responsible in a very large part for the development of the public playground; that a great many thousands of children have had decent room to play in which they would not have had if Joseph Lee had not lived.

We don't build monuments to men like that, or devote whole chapters of our history books to them. It might be a good thing if we did. For Joseph Lee's capacity for getting indignant over wrongs which were done—not to himself, but to other people—is one of the finest and most valuable traits the human race develops.

The industrial city of the late nineteenth century, with few parks and no playgrounds, with mile on mile of congested housing, inflicted a great wrong on millions of people. It wasn't, directly, any of Joseph Lee's business; but because he had that priceless capacity for getting mad over somebody else's troubles, he made it his business, and did a great deal to right the wrong.

There still are, heaven knows, plenty of similar wrongs to be righted. They will get righted only as we develop and exercise that same capacity for selfless indignation.

General Hugh S. JOHNSON SAYS

BETHANY BEACH, Del. — I wrote here yesterday about what appears to me to be a folly of excusing our debt and tax burden in the false assertion that Mother England has a greater one. An equal nonsense seems to me to be the frequently repeated statement that business in this country is resistant to government support, while business in Britain supports its government.

We can and we should be eager to learn from experiences of any nation, but we can't adapt the systems of others to our own quite different circumstances.

Surely business and government cooperate in Britain. Napoleon may have been exaggerating when he said England was a nation of shopkeepers. But if what he meant was that the government of England believes that the best way to advance the fortunes of the people of England is to advance the business of England, then he spoke only a platitude. Thus it has always been.

It has not been so in our country recently. Government has plainly taken the position that a political administration by various feasts of economic magic can do far more for its people than what we call "good business" can do. The absurdity of that is plenteously plain in the fact that, after spending $20,000,000,000 and following that principle to the ultimate, the average man is worse off than ever.

The difference between the British situation and ours is that in England government, farmers, business and labor are all convinced that if they don't hang together, they are sure to hang separately. Maybe that is because they are closer to the scaffold. But for whatever reason—it is true.

In this country, years have been spent in an effort to convince the mass of our people that business is a bum and that their salvation lies in the administration of all things, not merely by a federal government but by a federal government.

Cooperation? When I first joined my regiment from West Point, it was overjoyed by my kindly reception as a second lieutenant. In my enthusiasm I buried to an old Indian fighter of a captain: "Sir, we're going to cooperate perfectly."

"Yes," said he wisely, with more syrup than acid, "and you're going to do all the cooperating."

Such is the bitter truth in military discipline. But free peoples are not so regimented. Among equals, it takes two to cooperate. The British government realizes this. Ours does not. Ours now takes the position that in such cooperation as there may be, business must come "crawling on its hands and knees." That just doesn't march with American character.

These may be intangibles but they are none the less true and real. It is wholly unnecessary. As has been remarked here before, no government in our history even had the degree of cooperation from business that was given Mr. Roosevelt in 1933. He simply asked over the radio, one night, for a voluntary maximum-hours and minimum wages schedule and the abolition of child labor. He got it to the tune of nearly 3,000,000 jobs within the week. As a great British economist remarked to him, he had been able to do in less than 70 minutes what took the British government 70 years.

Of course that requires some qualification, in view of what happened later. But the qualification doesn't alter the main fact. Whatever cooperation the British government has had from British business is as nothing compared to what the American government could have from American business, if only the President's radical advisers had not convinced him that it is better rabble-rousing politics not to appear to be cooperating with business, but eternally to be tableaused as kicking it all over the lot, whenever possible.

News Behind The News

By PAUL MALLON

World Copyright 1938 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Stock marketeers seem to know more about business than Mr. Roosevelt's economic advisers. Sad truth is the seers here were caught short, literally if not literally, on the depression last fall, and again on the most recent upturn.

Not one clocked the extent of the current surge. Only one predicted in advance that "business" will take hold in mid-July on its own initiative with the impetus of the spend-lead program—as you will see if you will re-read the column of May 31. At that time also "a leading new deal financier" was quoted as saying: "The smart thing to do now is to buy—buy anything—and hang on to it." That was when General Motors was 27.

With General Motors recently above 44, the Washington economists have now all changed their glasses. They still cannot see as much as the market has been prophesying lately, but the consensus of their re-studied judgment is that industrial production will hit 90 to 95 by the end of the year. It is now 81, according to private unofficial estimates.

That means Washington expects a 10 to 15 per cent increase in business within 5 months.

The economists have a fairly well founded alibi for missing the boat last time. The marketeers knew something they did not, namely that even a weak reversal of the downward spring market outlook would bring heavy investment trust and timely foreign buying, cause big short covering, draw in cash from the large bank deposits, etc. The economists were not far wrong as to actual business expected; they were completely off in failing to guess how far a little recovery atmosphere would lift the hopes of investors.

(All seasonally adjusted except employment and payrolls.)

The increase in production was caused mostly by steel and textiles. Firming commodity prices, notably in cotton and iron, gave these two industries their opportunity to accelerate production. Also their inventories have been worked down substantially. The national bulge in inventories in 1936 and 1937 is now estimated at 5 billions. So far this year approximately 2 to 3 billions have been worked off. Consumption actually has been running ahead of production.

The prophesy of 90 to 95 for production beyond the year end is based on calculations that this much production will be needed to get back to consumption needs.

Another good uncharted sign is that machine tool orders were up 5 per cent in June. This industry which furnishes the tools for production generally forecasts business activity. About half of the machine tool buying for the first six months of this year was attributable to foreign buying. Now domestic buying is noticeable.

Employment and wage increases say to all callers:

Here and There

Theodore Roosevelt was the first President of the United States to fly in an airplane. He went up in a plane similar to the one the Wright brothers first flew.

During the 1936 season, 70,000 tons of South African fruit reached the port of London.

Australia is larger than the United States by 805 square miles.

The sex of bullfrogs can be determined by their ears; the male's ears are larger.

The soap root, a plant of the Illinois family, not only furnished the Indians with soap, but food as well. When cooked it tastes much like potatoes.

Most Eskimos do not swim, although they spend most of their lives near water.

In the larval stage, dragon flies snare their prey by means of a mouthpiece at the end of an "extension," which reaches out and grabs the victim.

Trend of the swing so far may be measured from the following monthly business chart used by the government.

All figures are official except the current month which is privately estimated.

The Revenue Act of 1934 introduced a significant limitation on the exemption from income tax or estate tax, respectively, on account of contributions to non-profit organizations serving religious, educational or other welfare purposes. The amendment of 1934 denied exemption in the case of a gift to any such organization, if a substantial part of its activities consisted of "carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting, to influence legislation."

The authors of this statutory change were presumably seeking to curb lobbying, and the implication of the language used in both the income and the state tax laws is that churches, colleges, endowed hospitals, community chests and the like have entered the lobbying field. While a distinction is implied between propaganda and other ways of attempting to influence legislation, no use is made of this implicit distinction to define a tax procedure which might apply to improper, but not to proper, methods of influencing legislation.

From one point of view, the introduction of such a provision in the tax laws is a confession of the weakness of the flesh. Congressmen have a recognized susceptibility to suggestion, influence, and even to education, and their attitude toward legislative proposals has frequently been molded by persuasion. The law does not forbid educational and other contacts between the citizens and their representatives in congress. It aims at discouraging such contacts by denying tax relief to those who would give their money to institutions that engage too actively in educating, and otherwise influencing, the lawmakers.

It is superficial, though pertinent.

Clearing House

Fellow Citizens:

Mr. Rockwell's interesting article of July 25th indicates he regards the Townsend plan, as a great modern discovery. This would be interesting indeed, if correct. A panacea to cure our economic ills would, at this time be very welcome. But what assurance have we that a gentleman, the medical profession has found an economic cure all.

The lovable old doctor would rise up with the rest of his profession, in righteous indignation, if a layman announced, he had discovered a sure cure for cancer. Yet with equally as little training in economics as the average layman has in medicine, the doctor announces a sure cure for the economic cancer that is gnawing at our vitals.

I am sure if Mr. Rockwell got sick, he would call in a man learned in medicine and surgery. Why can't he be just as practical in economic ills?

Furthermore, I am sure that, neither Mr. Rockwell, Dr. Townsend nor anyone endorsing the Townsend plan is any more willing to dig down and sacrifice, of their means, for the old people than I am. I do not oppose the Townsend plan nor the California Pension Plan for any selfish reason. My opposition is based entirely on the fact that neither plan will work, as the promoters predict. And I also suspect, that a lot of ambitious candidates who joined the Townsend Clubs to get their votes, fully realize the plan won't work. Maybe not all, however. Even some candidates may be very dumb.

I think I fully qualified my statement that the Townsend Plan won't work, in a previous article, so I won't go into that again, since it was not disputed at the time.

What I would like to see, however, is a movement set on foot within the Townsend Clubs, to make all candidates who joined the movement and endorsed the plan, give reason for their faith in the plan. It's a safe guess, that no two reasons would be the same if this were tried.

Also it might be a good idea to quiz the candidates who joined the clubs, to find whether or not they really care anything about old people, and if they are now caring for their own aged dependents.

Also they might have each one of their candidates explain what particular benefit will or can be added to the Townsend movement by their occupying the particular office which they now seek.

With all due respect to Mr. Rockwell's sincerity, I fear he has taken on a hopeless task, trying to answer all the Clearing House criticism of the Townsend Plan.

If he believes in the movement, and I believe he does, let me suggest to him that: Wolves outside sheepfold are less likely to do damage, than those inside.

ARE CHURCH GIFTS TAX-EXEMPT?

By HARLEY L. LUTZ
Professor of Public Finance, Princeton University

The Revenue Act of 1934 introduced a significant limitation on the exemption from income tax or estate tax, respectively, on account of contributions to non-profit organizations serving religious, educational or other welfare purposes. The amendment of 1934 denied exemption in the case of a gift to any such organization, if a substantial part of its activities consisted of "carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting, to influence legislation."

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Hoiles

CAUSE OF WAGE INCREASES?

It would seem that there cannot be too much discussion as to what causes the wages in a nation to increase.

A contributor recently made the claim that if it were not for labor laws and unions, wages of common labor would be down to a dollar a day in six months' time. Most people believe that wages would be lower and that labor has been helped by unions.

They undoubtedly believe this because labor laws and unions can and have helped certain laborers and the believers of this raising of wages by laws and unions have seen the results of those benefited. But what the advocates have failed to see is that this benefit was not universal and those who were benefited by special laws and in monopolistic unions got this benefit by lowering the standard of living of other workers. And if this be true, then labor as a whole has not been benefited.

Some of the theoretical college professors will contend that this benefit comes out of the profits of capital. But capital gets interest established by demand, and not profit. The profit goes to the entrepreneur and if unions or laws reduce this reward to the entrepreneur for the payment of his enterprise, it is retarding the incentive for him and others to take risks and employ labor and increase the capital of the country. This retarding of dangerous undertaking and of the accumulation of more efficient tools, which the workers can use, reduces the workers' ability to produce and thus lowers the wages they could receive, if unions and labor laws had not retarded this accumulation.

The only way wages, for all workers, can be increased is by more production. This cannot be done by restricting laws or by labor monopolies. But these restrictions can and have greatly reduced production and consequently have greatly reduced real wages.

Here are some of the unexplained dilemmas resulting from the belief that unions can help raise wages.

Would they let all workers join the unions? If not, how would those not allowed to join be benefited? If all were allowed to join the union and there was a surplus of labor in certain lines of work, as there is today, because the wages in certain lines had been arbitrarily set at a higher rate than a free competitive market would establish, would not other workers who were not permitted to share or participate in these higher wages have their real wages lowered when they were obliged to trade what they produced for the things produced at the artificial wage levels?

Take one concrete example: Are not the real wages of the producers of oranges lowered because the railroad employers have established such comparatively high wages that there are many men for every job and when these producers of oranges are obliged to trade their oranges for transportation and other articles produced on an arbitrary basis, are not the real wages of these producers of oranges greatly reduced? And if the orange workers got together and established an arbitrary wage, then would not the consumers of oranges have to give more of their time to get the oranges and would not their real wages in reality be cut because of this combination establishing arbitrary wages for producing oranges?

Let the believers that all wages, (it is freely admitted that SOME wages can be increased at the expense of other workers), can be raised by unions or laws answer these questions which have been asked down through the ages and never, as yet, been answered.

TAXING INDUSTRY TO DEATH

Among the reasons why people are less anxious than they once were to put up money to finance industry, taxation holds an increasingly prominent place.

The purpose which some 6,000,000 investors had in buying the stock of 150 of the largest corporations in this country recently surveyed by the American Federation of Investors, was to make a profit in the form of dividends.

When the Federal and State Governments step in and take larger and larger cuts out of corporate earnings, there is less and less left to be distributed among the stockholders.

As a result the incentive to invest is gradually destroyed.

And that is one of the big reasons why industry in this country has bogged down.

The survey referred to shows that the corporations surveyed paid out in taxes last year $2.62 for every share of common stock, while the holders of that stock received an average of only $1.95 per share in dividends.

Several of these corporations are located in Michigan. The worst part of the tax situation is not its present burden, but the fact that there is no indication of intention on the part of the Federal Government to change its policy of steadily increasing that burden.

The taxes paid by the Chrysler Corporation for example, were more than 13 times as large in 1937 as in 1932.

What is the use of the Government trying to stimulate business by artificial means, when it refuses to see that it is taxing business to death?

The existing public debt has to be taken care of through taxes, but vast savings could be made in the operating costs of the Government, which would enable the taxes, now levied to finance extravagance and waste, to be reduced.

A large amount of the money now spent for relief, for example, could be saved, without distressing the deserving needy.

Carrying taxation to the point where it dries up its own source by deterring investment in industry is the counsel of folly, which cannot go on without inviting calamity.—Detroit Free Press.
